WEATHER INDICATIONS.

U. S. Department of Agriculture,
Weather Bureau,
Toledo, O., June 30.

The area of high pressure has advanced during the past 24 hours to the south and east and covers the entire country between the Rocky Mountains and the Mississippi river.

There is a second area of high pressure covering the southern states east of the Mississippi river.

The storm area is central over Ontario and will pass off the continent.

The weather over the entire country is fair except around the lakes and the New England states where it is cloudy and rainy.

Rains during the past 24 hours have been heaviest around Lakes Erie and Ontario; elsewhere they have been very light. The temperature has remained nearly stationary in all sections of the country, but will rise.

Minnesota reports a minimum temperature of 26 degrees and frost this morning.

Forecast for Toledo and vicinity—On Thursday, fair, slight changes in temperature. On Friday, fair, slightly warmer.

E. A. HANNER, Observer.

Ohio—Fair on Friday with northwesterly winds; cooler Friday morning, followed by slowly rising temperature.

Indiana and Illinois—Probably fair Friday; northerly winds; warmer in northern; slightly cooler in extreme southern portions.

Lower Michigan—Fair; winds shifting to southwesterly; slightly warmer Friday.

Upper Michigan and Wisconsin—Fair and warmer Friday; southwesterly winds.

NEBRASKA INDEPENDENTS.

Lincoln, Neb., June 30.—Nebraska independent state convention to elect delegates to the national convention met at 11 o'clock this morning. J. V. Wolfe was temporary chairman; the credentials committee was selected and the convention took a recess.

All gone—woman's suffering and woman's weakness. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription puts a stop to it. It's a remedy for all the delicate derangements and disorders that make her suffer, and a cure for all the diseases and disturbances that make her weak. It's a legitimate medicine, that corrects and cures; a tonic that invigorates and builds up; a nervine that soothes and strengthens. For bearing-down pains, displacements, and all the functional irregularities peculiar to the sex, it's a safe and certain remedy.

Other medicines claim to cure!

That's true. But they don't claim to do this: if the "Favorite Prescription" fails to benefit or cure, in any case for which it's recommended, the money paid for it is refunded.

Judge for yourself which is likely to be the better medicine.

And think whether something else offered by the dealer is likely to be "just as good."

Cold Water People in Session in Cincinnati.

The Delegates are There for Business,

And Allow No Grass to Grow Under Them.

A Catholic Priest Opens the Session.

Full Proceedings of the National Prohibition Convention—Only Delegates Present Allowed to Vote.

Cincinnati, June 30.—Soon after 4 o'clock the convention was called to order for the afternoon session, a big audience being present.

The Silver Lake quartet set things rolling with a topical song aimed at the old parties and at ministers "who face both ways," and then to an encore gave another entitled "Levi," containing hits at Vice President Morton and his buffett in the Shoreham hotel in Washington.

The next thing was the photographing of the audience. The Rev. Father Mahoney, of St. Paul, Minn., a Catholic clergyman, then offered prayer and formally opened the session.

Chafin, of Wisconsin, thought the audience would like to see its old prohibition leaders, and suggested that they be asked on the platform.

A number of the war horses of the party were brought up, and John Russell, of Michigan, the presidential candidate of 1880; Dr. Brooks, Miss Willard, Mr. Thompson (who was on the ticket with Neal Dow) and "Mother" Stewart, of Springfield, O., were introduced. The appearance of Miss Willard and Mother Stewart was greeted with applause and waving of handkerchiefs and fans.

The committee on credentials reported that 972 delegates were present, Louisiana and South Carolina being the only states not represented.

A committee was appointed to send telegrams of greeting to Neal Dow, Mrs. Clinton Fisk, and Green C. Smith, well-known absent prohibition leaders.

The presentation of the report of the committee on permanent organization recommending Col. Eli Ritter for permanent chairman, and Sam Small for permanent secretary, and reinstating the rule voted down in the morning, giving states votes for delegates present, was the signal for a fight.

The Rev. Sam Small presented a minority report, signed by 15 states, recommending that each state delegation be permitted to cast the full vote to which it is entitled. He made a vigorous speech in favor of the minority report, and protested against depriving these states of their full vote as a monumental injustice. The majority report blotted out states, and made the prohibition national convention simply a mass meeting of men with money enough to get here. The prohibition party was against monopolies.

David Morgan, of Minnesota, was astounded at Mr. Small's speech. He had seen only a corporal's guard at prohibition conventions under the old rule. When one man could vote for a whole state only a corporal's guard ever came to a prohibition convention. A few men with little brains did all the voting for the other fellows who stay at home, as it wasn't necessary for them to go to the convention. He wanted prohibition conventions well attended and was opposed to a few fellows running the machine. The question was discussed pro and con for nearly an hour by about a dozen delegates, and apparently half the convention wanted to talk as every speaker was greeted by scores of delegates shouting for recognition.

Cushing of Maine said that Maine had given the last house of representatives a speaker who made a considerable reputation, but even Thomas B. Reed never undertook to count men who were not present.

Finally the debate closed by Chafin of Wisconsin moving the previous question, but even this did not quiet the delegates, and the hall was full of the noise of interjections and points of order. A roll-call by states on the adoption of the minority report finally brought the matter to a focus.

While the vote was being counted an operatic olio was given amid much enthusiasm by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Beveridge of Illinois, illustrative of a row on the political question between a good deacon and his wife.

The roll-call resulted in the defeat of the minority report by a vote of 359 to 721, and then the majority report was adopted, so that absent delegates will have no vote.

Although the effect of the ballot might easily promote or retard the interests of Demorest of New York for the presidential nomination, it being to his interest that the minority report should be adopted, the division of the different delegations was such as to dispel the idea that the vote would afford a test of his strength in the convention. The idea that a precedent as to representation in future national conventions was being settled had far more to do with the outcome than presidential preferences. After the announcement of the result of the roll-call the convention adjourned until 8 p. m.

The re-election of Samuel Dickie as chairman of the national committee was unanimous. The following national executive committee was selected: Chairman, S. Dickie; vice chairman, John P. St. John, of Kansas; secretary, W. C. Wardwell, of New York; treasurer, Samuel D. Hastings, of Wisconsin; additional members, Helen Gougar, of Indiana; J. H. Tate, Tennessee; A. A. Sevens, Pennsylvania. Notwithstanding gossip that headquarters would be changed to Chicago, the committee again chose New York for another four years.

Probably the most unusual and striking scene of the convention was the opening of the second session with prayer by a Catholic priest—Rev. Father Martin Mahoney, of St. Paul, Minn.

When delegates and spectators had partly recovered from the surprise caused by the announcement of his presence and name in such a connection, a great hush fell upon the assemblage. With one accord, delegates and spectators were upon their feet, and with bowed heads, amid deep silence, joined in the priest's petition.

It was, with one exception, the only instance on record in which a Roman Catholic clergyman has officiated at a national political convention in the United States. Father Mahoney, who is one of Archbishop Ireland's assistants, is a regularly elected delegate from Minnesota, and has been an active prohibitionist for 14 years. He delivered the prayer at the personal solicitation of Chairman Dickie, of the national prohibition committee, and ex-Gov. John P. St. John, of Kansas, acted as temporary chairman of the convention.

Singing and prayer by the Rev. David Tatum, a Quaker preacher of Chicago, opened the evening session.

Col. Eli Ritter, of Indiana, who was selected for permanent chairman, was escorted to the platform to succeed Gov. St. John as presiding officer. His appearance was greeted with loud cheers.

In his address on taking the chair, Col. Ritter said that no political party in the history of the nation had ever accomplished so much, or ever advanced an educational matter to the extent the prohibition party had done in the four years just passed—and that in the face of the constant statement by the old parties that the prohibition party was dead or dying. He attacked the republican and democratic parties for their attitudes to the liquor traffic. No one doubted the absolute loyalty of the democratic party to the liquor traffic, and the republican party waved the flag and surrendered the field to the liquor men, so that only one republican state convention had said a word on the subject this year.

He then abruptly asked: "What would be the consequences if we were to quit the field?" A prolonged whistle answered the interrogation. He wanted a school for the feeble hearted that would make all the temperance men come to the prohibition party and as a unit oppose the united liquor interests. The trouble with prohibitionists was that they did not have the consistency and courage of the liquor league. His voice was for war until the liquor traffic was killed; then let's have peace. (Applause and cries of "Amen.") The old parties were keeping up a feud 30 years old, and he wanted to shake hands with the south. The loudest applause of the evening greeted this announcement, the delegates rising in a mass. He made this reference to Harrison: "There is a president from Indiana, and he has been renominated. They say it will be a hot campaign. I promise it shall be the hottest campaign ever seen and we give notice we will be in it."

Col. Ritter's address was received with great favor and suggestions of Ritter for president.

There was nothing remaining before the convention, and Albert Dodge, of Michigan, said that when women were organized for prohibition the party would have the greatest factor beneath the stars and stripes, and he moved that Mrs. Gougar be heard on the work of the White Rose league. It was carried, and Mrs. Gougar addressed the convention.

A telegram from the Denver, Col., prohibition league, asking for a plank unconditionally favoring free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver was read, and then the convention adjourned until 9:30 to-morrow morning.

SECOND DAY.

The Prohibition Convention Down to Business.

Cincinnati, June 30.—It was 9:50 when the second day's session of the prohibition convention was called to order by Chairman Eli Ritter, of Indianapolis.

A prayer of remarkable brevity was offered by J. C. Quinn, Episcopalian, of Fremont, Neb., and the preacher was barely on his feet when W. W. Gibbs, of Virginia, was on his feet with a resolution that read as follows:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that speakers who are accorded the honor of addressing the convention be requested to refrain from unnecessary references or illustrations that could be construed as a reflection on any of the participants in the last struggle."

Objection was raised that the resolution should go to the committee on resolutions without debate. This did not suit the majority of the convention, however, and so the rules were suspended and the resolution was considered. Gibbs made a stirring speech in its behalf urging that the issues of the war were ended and buried and ought not to be resurrected.

There was a remarkable scene as he concluded his remarks. One of the southern delegates with a sonorous voice struck up that grand old hymn, "Blest be the tie that binds." Every southern man on the floor rose to his feet and joined in.

At the second verse the entire audience was on its feet, and the thousands of voices swelled in one great acclaim. Every verse of the hymn was sung and then the convention broke into applause that was renewed three times over.

This demonstration settled the sentiment in favor of Gibbs' resolution and upon being put to a vote it was adopted by a nearly unanimous vote.

A uniformed messenger handed a dispatch to Secretary Sam Small at this juncture and the latter, after glancing at its contents, read it aloud.

It was from several prohibition clubs of California urging the nomination of Bidwell, saying that it was urgently, by the prohibitionists of the Golden Gate, urged that this be made the Fremont campaign, and then four years later let them nominate and elect that Abraham of the prohibition party, John P. St. John.

This was agreed with great applause, in the midst of which an escorting committee appeared upon the platform with Frances Willard, who had been invited to say a fraternal word in behalf of the white ribboners.

The energetic little Evanston woman made one of her characteristic addresses, telling the delegates that the presence of so many of them demonstrated the fact that the millenium was coming, congratulating them upon the fact that they were such a "clean lot," that there was no tobacco smoke in the hotels, no bars being enriched.

Then there was an appeal for contributions to the campaign fund. W. T. Wardwell, of New York, treasurer of the Standard Oil company, headed the list with $1,000. Then the state delegations came forward. Massachusetts and Colorado gave $500 each, and Virginia and Tennessee donated $600 each. J. H. Hobbs, of Chicago, made a personal contribution of $500. Illinois gave $1,000; Indiana and Iowa gave $250 each; Chairman Dickie gave $250; so did C. C. Crowell, of Nebraska; Wisconsin came up with $500; Rev. Father Mahoney, of St. Paul, chipped in $100; Kentucky's donation was $500; Pennsylvania $1,700; Ohio $1,047; California $500, and New York $1,000. That wound up the big gifts, but there were innumerable tens, twenties and fifties.

Dr. Evans finally retired with the satisfaction of having raised $20,000 in two hours. The convention then came to a sudden halt at this point for want of something to do, and at 12:15 a recess was taken until 2 o'clock.

The committee on resolutions is having a monkey and parrot time of it in a room over the organ loft.

The report submitted by the sub-committee has been torn to pieces, and there is only the preamble and two anti-liquor declarations to show for three and a half hours of heated debate since breakfast.

The money plank is the bone of contention, and 20 speeches have been made on the question as to whether the platform should fix and indorse any specific rate of interest.

Committeeman Grandon, of Michigan, says that at the present rate of progress the platform will be in shape for presentation some time before midnight.

YALE-HARVARD-COLUMBIA.

The Great Boat Race at New London.

A Bad Sea and Heavy Wind for the Boys to Battle Against.

New London, Conn., June 30.—The early morning trains are bringing hundreds to the harbor town for the Yale-Harvard-Columbia boat races. Yale colors are the most conspicuous among the arrivals, though a big Harvard delegation is announced as on the way.

The weather is anything but propitious for a race and it is thought by many that the freshman contest cannot take place till evening.

The sea is choppy and a dense fog obscures the view for more that a hundred yards ahead. The thick mist occasionally condenses into a perceptible rain.

If the race is rowed the conditions will be most favorable to Columbia as they have shown to their best advantage all the spring in a heavy sea. Such a state of affairs affects Harvard's light crew the most disastrously of the three.

The Harvard launch arrived early with several from the crimson quarters. They assert that the race will take place promptly on time. A committee composed of Yale, Harvard and Columbia naval directors has been at work all the morning flagging the new two-mile course.

Later—The Yale-Harvard-Columbia freshman race has been postponed until 5 o'clock this afternoon.

UNDER A RECEIVER

The Buffalo Bank Will Try to Pull Through.

Superintendent Preston Says This Action is Necessary to Save the Depositors.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 30.—It is probable that the national savings bank will be placed in the hands of a receiver and will resume business for the benefit of the depositors, as was done in the case of the Ulster bank.

That is the action that Superintendent Preston thinks will be taken. Mr. Preston said that the deficiency is greater than the surplus, thereby rendering the bank insolvent and for that reason he has taken possession of the concern. He also expressed the belief that the trustees could not be held responsible.

Speaking of savings banks in general, Mr. Preston said: "The percentage of loss in these institutions is small in comparison with their importance to the community. There are no institutions as a whole more safely or more conservatively managed. The savings banks' resources in this state average $675,000,000, so you see the percentage of loss is very small."

Receiver Appointed.

Albany, N. Y., June 30.—Superintendent of Banking Preston to-day telegraphed to Attorney General Rosendale to appoint a receiver for the National Savings bank of Buffalo. He immediately appointed Deputy Attorney General Hogan.

WAS HE MURDERED?

Mind Reader Bishop's Jury Disagrees.

Nine Out of Twelve of the Men Believe the Doctor Was Butchered.

New York, June 30.—The jury in the case of Dr. John A. Irwin, charged with performing an illegal autopsy on the body of Washington Irving Bishop, which has been on trial for several days, to-day came into court with a disagreement. The jury stood 9 to 3 for conviction.

Bishop was a mind reader of wide celebrity, achieved through wonderful exhibitions given throughout the world, which baffled every one who attempted to discover the secret of his power or skill. A few years ago he died in New York, at least it was supposed that he died. Within a few hours after the ordinary appearance of death an autopsy was held. It was learned that Bishop was subject to trances, or some form of catalepsy, and the cry went up that he had been butchered by the over-eager men of science. His mother has never given up the belief that he was merely in a trance when the autopsy was performed, and it was her unrelenting efforts that brought the case to a close to-day.

IN THE IRON MILLS

The Amalgamated Association Has Adjourned,

Well Pleased With the Result of Its Labors,

And Firm in the Stand Against a Reduction.

Trouble Already Commenced at Homestead.

The Bitter Feeling Among the Men is Coming to the Surface and There is Every Evidence of a Serious Outcome.

Pittsburg, June 30.—At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the seventeenth convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers adjourned sine die, and the organization, having approved the work done by its representatives, is ready to stand or fall by the position now taken.

The real work begins from this day on, and the doings of the next two weeks will tell the tale.

At midnight the western iron and steel scales of '91-'92 will cease to be in existence, and all mills desiring to continue at work can only do so under the scales of '92-'93.

The situation, in a nut-shell, right on the eve of the great shut-down, is threatening. The iron manufacturers of this and the Mahoning and Shenango valleys are yet at loggerheads with the association, while affairs present a serious aspect at Homestead.

Many dark clouds have cast their gloomy forms over the iron and steel workers in years gone by, but it is admitted on all sides that never before in the history of the Amalgamated association has it been confronted with such a state of affairs as now exist. The only "silver lining" to be discovered lingering about the warlike clouds is found in the announcement that an amicable settlement will likely be reached with the Association of Iron and Steel Sheet Manufacturers.

This afternoon the iron wage committee went to Youngstown, at which place it will confer with the Mahoning and Shenango Manufacturers' association. There is little hope of a settlement being reached since the valley employes ask for a heavy, if not heavier, reduction than the Pittsburg manufacturers. One conference was held in Pittsburg last week, but it was decided to postpone further discussion until after the convention. The valley delegates in attendance at the convention do not believe that satisfactory terms will be arrived at to-morrow. The hostile expressions in the past of the manufacturers have caused the delegates to feel chary.

Although a strong fight was made by visiting delegates to have next year's convention held in Youngstown or in Cleveland, the local delegates again scored their point, and, as in the past, the convention will be held in this city.

Exciting Demonstrations.

Homestead, Pa., June 30.—The intense feeling of the workmen at the Homestead steel works of Carnegie's, which has been heretofore well controlled, has at last broken forth. Yesterday there were numerous hostile and exciting demonstrations on their part. H. C. Frick, William McBroom and several others were hanged in effigy in the mill yard, on the electric light poles. When James Dinkey, chief of the electrical department, climbed the poles to cut down the effigy of Mr. Frick, the workmen turned one of the hose that have been prepared as a defense for the plant upon him, and caused the gentleman to beat a hasty retreat.

Another effigy was cut down by a Hungarian laborer upon command of the yardmaster. As he carried the figure through the yard he was met with hoots and jeers on every side. William McBroom, who was also hung in effigy, is chief of the steel works police. He has many friends in Homestead and among the workmen. The only grievance against him is his position. He felt very badly about the affair, and tried to show the men that they had treated him unjustly.

A number of strange men, who, it was feared, were here to take the places of the Amalgamated men, have been compelled to leave town. The closing down of the 32-inch mills was followed by the 119-inch mill last night. This announcement was made last night, but it was necessary to run out the heat of the 32-inch mill, which required 24 hours. Several other departments will close down to-morrow night and the men will be discharged. Instead of a strike it will be a lockout. The situation hourly becomes more serious.

A mill worker said this afternoon that he was convinced that it was a fight for principle, and from his estimate of the situation he was positive they would win. "If necessary," said he, "we could be reinforced by 30,000 men, but we think we can manage this affair ourselves. We propose to win it, however, in some way. The association is strong and we can afford to stand out three years if necessary, and there would not be a hungry man, woman or child among us. Of course there will be some men who earn small wages and have large families who will soon have to be helped, but we have $200,000 for that purpose alone."

Will Not Sign It.

Youngstown, O., June 30.—The scale presented by the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers is still unsigned by the manufacturers, who declare that they will have nothing to do with it.

Unless the scale is signed in the meantime, all mills in the Mahoning valley will be shut down at 12 o'clock to-night.

PLAYING IN LUCK.

Charles C. Young Owns the Youngstown Jail and Court House.

Cleveland, June 30.—In the United States court to-day, Judges Taft and Ricks rendered a decision whereby the Mahoning county court house and jail, valued at $100,000, become the property of Charles C. Young, of Whitestown, N. Y. In 1802 John Young, an ancestor of the plaintiff in the present case, deeded two lots to the city of Youngstown, "to be used as a public burying ground."

In 1875 when the county seat of Mahoning county was changed from Canfield to Youngstown, these lots were selected as a site for the court house and jail.

Charles C. Young then began suit to recover the property on the ground that it had been perverted from the use for which it was originally dedicated to the city, and a decision in his favor was rendered here to-day.

By this action of the court, Young becomes possessor not only of the land but all the improvements upon it.

THE FIELD FAILURE.

It Finds Its Way Into Court in Another Form.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 30.—An affidavit and order in the case of George F. Weichers against the Central Trust company of New York, has been filed in the county clerk's office here.

The plaintiff alleges that 18 certificates in the Sugar Refining company, which had been placed in the hands of Field, Lindley & Co. were transferred by the Trust company upon a fraudulent instrument of transfer prepared by Edward M. Field and purporting to be signed by plaintiff.

Plaintiff seeks to recover $205,500 with interest, alleging that he was the owner of and entitled to possession of said 18 certificates of deposit and had never surrendered his title to them.

FOR FAIR TRADE.

The London Conference Takes Important Action.

London, June 30.—The congress of chambers of commerce of the British empire declared to-day for free trade by adopting Mr. Medley's resolution by a vote of 47 to 34.

Sir Charles Tupper's amendment in favor of preferential duties was finally defeated by a vote of 55 to 33.

TAILORS ON A STRIKE.

Baltimore, June 30.—One thousand coat tailors went an a strike this morning in an effort to free themselves from "task" work. Heretofore each tailor has been allotted a certain amount of work by the contractors to be done in a day. It is claimed a person had to work 14 to 16 hours. The men want to work 10 hours a day for reasonable wages and have weekly pay-days.

BENJAMIN'S BLUNDERS.

The Appointment of John W. Foster

Was a Direct Slap at Blaine's Friends.

A Republican Paper Makes the Point That He is Unworthy the Honor Conferred Upon Him.

St. Louis, June 30.—The Globe-Democrat (rep.) condemns the appointment of Secretary Foster. It says:

"The selection of John W. Foster to be secretary of state will disappoint and displease the country. While the appointee has had some diplomatic experience he is not the sort of man whom the average citizen would be likely to mention in connection with the leading position in the cabinet. * * * * For several weighty reasons this appointment is a blunder. So far as those familiar with Foster's record are able to judge he lacks the ability, and mental poise, and dignity requisite in the head of the most important of all the cabinet positions. It is a blunder because it will cast an air of truth over the story current a week or two ago, that Foster's officiousness caused Mr. Blaine to resign; and will thus be a mortal affront to the ex-secretary and his friends."

DRIVEN OUT BY DROUTH

Prairies as Bare as Billiard Tables.

Places in Texas Where Rain Has Not Fallen in Three Long Years.

San Antonio, Tex., June 30.—A letter from LaSalle county, 80 miles southwest of San Antonio, gives a picture of the drouth and desolation in that section.

In three years it has not rained a drop. The prairies, once carpeted with rich grass, are as bare as a billiard table. The streams have gone dry. There is no water anywhere. The sun reflected from the white earth makes the glare and heat almost unbearable. Deer, turkey and other wild animals have left. Even the familiar jack rabbit has disappeared. All cattle and sheep have been sold and shipped to other states.

The citizens yesterday appealed to Gov. Hogg to furnish the many Mexicans, many of whom are in a starving condition, transportation to the cotton districts where they may find work. An earnest call for food has been issued.

ILLINOIS REPUBLICANS.

The State Committee in Session in Chicago.

Chicago, June 30.—The republican state committee met here to-day for the purpose of organizing for the coming campaign. Under the new ballot law of the state work, to be effective, must be done before election day.

The campaign will have to be one largely of education. Large quantities of tariff literature are to be circulated among the voters.

Registration throughout the state is to be closely looked after, and attention to naturalization will also be arranged for.

SHOT BY A NEGRO.

An Officer Attacked in Fort Worth.

An Angry Mob Makes a Desperate Attempt to Lynch the Black Man.

Fort Worth, Tex., June 30.—Yesterday Officer Lee, while attempting to arrest a colored woman, was shot and mortally wounded by three negroes. One of the negroes was immediately arrested and locked up. The others fled, but later in the day one of them was captured.

While waiting for the patrol wagon a mob gathered and attempted to take the negro from the officers and hang him. The officers fought the crowd until the wagon, with three officers, arrived. The negro was placed in the wagon, surrounded by six policemen. The horses were whipped up and a lively race to the jail ensued.

The wagon reached the jail in safety, but the negro was scarcely inside when a mob of 2,000 people surrounded the building and demanded that the men be turned over to them for punishment.

The mob were addressed by the mayor, and finally dispersed. The police are searching for the third negro, and if captured it is feared the mob will reorganize and a triple lynching is possible.

AS POWDERLY SEES IT

The Leader of the Knights of Labor

Talks on the Coming Convention in Omaha.

He is Pronounced on His Opinions and Advises Workingmen to Support the Nominee.

Chicago, June 30.—General Master-Workman Powderly is on his way to Omaha as delegate-at-large from Pennsylvania to the third party convention.

Mr. Powderly was induced to give his views on the subject of the third party movement and the relations of the labor unions of the country thereto. This being the first official utterance on the subject from the labor union standpoint, Mr. Powderly's remarks were made with great deliberation.

"There is no democrat or republican, no matter how able," he said, "who can successfully contradict the assertion that their platforms are based on deceit. Take the silver plank as an illustration. Neither party believes in the demonetization of silver, yet both would catch the votes of the advocates of free silver. A treacherous act was performed in the night; the assassin stole, dirk in hand, into the United States congress. He stabbed where he could do the most harm, and when he plucked his cursed steel away, the silver dollar, which had stood with the constitution itself up to 1873, lay prostrate at the feet of the English and German bankers, who sent Ernest Seyd across the ocean to bribe the American congress to demonetize silver in the interest of foreign money-lenders. Sworn testimony has been adduced to prove that Ernest Seyd performed his duty faithfully and well.

"We all know that silver was demonetized; we know that the American people did not ask for its demonetization, and that they did not know of its demonetization until the evil was upon them. It was an act of treachery, aye, of treason, and the whole plan has been laid bare before congress within the past two years. Both parties know that it was wrong; that it was stealthily and treacherously done. They know that it was contrary to the American idea of fair play to deal a blow in the dark, and yet neither party has the manliness to demand that silver be placed where it was before the hidden hand struck the blow.

"That tariff question is settling itself without the aid of politicians, for when an American manufacturer feels that he can compete with foreign rivals he asks that the tariff be taken off the article which he manufactures. That wages are good and bad in this protected land no one will deny; that wages are bad and good in free trade England no one will deny; and yet the campaign orators will urge the people to believe that there is no other issue than the tariff in this campaign.

"Being in and out is practically the only difference between the rival wings of the party of plutocracy, and if the people have sense both will be out when campaign closes. Search both platforms carefully and well, and not one living issue will strike you as standing boldly out in favor of reform in the true sense of the word.

"We know that the land should not be subject to speculative traffic, and we are confident that it is so held. We know that idle lands escape taxation and that the labor of thousands go to increase the value of this land. We know that one speculator gets the increase in value and that the other nine hundred and ninety-nine who reside in that vicinity pay the taxes not only on their own homes, but on the speculator's land as well. Whether the foreign manufacturer does or does not pay tariff, we do know that the American industrialist, merchant and manufacturer must pay the taxes on the lands now held by speculators and for the enrichment of the few.

"We all know that the republican and democratic parties did not speak out in behalf of the people on the great living questions, and, knowing that, how can we consistently vote for either Benjamin Harison or Grover Cleveland? Wall street nominated both of them. Through Chauncey M. Depew (the original striker on the New York Central railroad in 1890, and the most cowardly of them all, for he ran away to Europe after planning the strike) Benjamin Harrison was placed in nomination. That was the railroad interest of Wall street speaking for the presidency.

'When the Omaha candidates come before us for our votes they will be able to tell what they represent, and every man who will vote the people's party ticket will be able to tell why he does it, but 75 out of every 100 who vote the other two tickets will not know why they are democrats or republicans.

"If there is a voter within the United States who should feel in duty bound to vote for the nominees of the Omaha convention, the Knight of Labor is that man. And why? The general assembly of 1890 ordered its general officers to call a convention of representatives of all industrial organizations for the purpose of 'formulating a political platform to which we could give our support at the pools.' The Farmers' alliance and Industrial union, which met a few weeks afterward, adopted a similar resolution. Other organizations of industrialists agreed to the resolutions, and from that beginning came the industrial conference at St. Louis, on Washington's birthday, 1892. That conference adopted a political platform and placed it before the American people, so that both of the so-called great parties might have the opportunity to adopt the platform of industry. Both parties rejected it; they scoffed at it and at the cranks who made it. Knights of Labor are responsible for the existence of the St. Louis platform, and the Knights of Labor should support it at the polls for its own making.

"Whether the nominees of the Omaha convention are elected or not, the agitation for government ownership of railroads, a national currency independent of bankers and an equitable system of taxation of land and land values will continue until the whole American people understand these issues. This campaign will be a glorious one for education on these essential points, and it cannot fail to win, no matter who is elected.

"I believe the platform of the St. Louis conference is right and will vote for it next November. I furthermore believe that every other man should do the same."

Mr. Powderly was sanguine that there would be something in the nature of a political revolution in the western states as a result of the Omaha convention. He expressed himself as confident that the people's party could and would easily carry several of those states, and he thought that the outlook was also favorable to the third party in several of the southern states.

NEBRASKA REPUBLICANS.

They Are Trying to Stem the Opposition Tide.

Omaha, Neb., June 30.—The members of the republican state central committee are gathering here to-day for the purpose of fixing the time and place for the forthcoming state convention.

The growing strength of the alliance and democracy in Nebraska will make the coming gathering more than ordinary importance.

The question of the apportioning of representation is one which will require the most careful consideration by the committee. If the vote cast for Post should be the basis for representation some of the counties will be entitled to as many as 20 votes more than ever before.

In the Post campaign many republicans who had left the ranks in other campaigns returned, and it is held that these temporary absentees are entitled to be counted.

The question will be to determine to what man the true strength of the republican party was enlisted and to make his vote the basis of representation in the conventions.

IT'S A SHOW DOWN NOW

Emperor William is Getting Excited,

And Will Stand Bismarck's Abuse No Longer.

The German Empire Greatly Excited by the Latest Turn in Affairs of the Government.

Berlin, June 30.—The action of the government in abandoning its attitude of reserve toward Prince Bismarck, as evidenced by the threats made in the official North German Gazette, has caused a most decided sensation throughout the empire, and further developments are awaited with great interest.

The language of Prince Bismarck, which has apparently waked the government up to a determination to prosecute him, appears in an interview published in the West Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, the Prince's new organ, in Cologne.

The passages in this interview that are especially offensive to Emperor William charge him, after the failure of his visit to the Czar at Narva, with assenting to Chancellor Von Caprivi's greatest error, a precipitate breaking of every link that bound Germany and Russia. According to Prince Bismarck, the Emperor thought his personal amiability would win the Russians.

Intermediaries, possibly appointed for the purpose, brought to the ears of the Emperor, even before he left St. Petersburg, remarks that had been made by members of the Czar's circle, which left no doubt of the failure of his visit. Under these circumstances the Emperor's immediate journey to England, followed by the East African treaties, assumed the aspect of a demonstration against Russia.

These incidents were succeeded by a policy of friendliness toward the Poles, which was still more galling to the Czar. No graver change in German policy could have been adopted. It showed to Russia on the political horizon a Polish legion in the event of war, with, in the event of Russian defeat, a new kingdom of Poland. This naturally resulted in the visit of the French fleet to Cronstadt. The appointment of a Polish bishop at Posen was also a mistake in the internal policy.

In the course of the interview Prince Bismarck said further: "When I read General Von Caprivi's first speeches as chancellor, I saw that I had been entirely deceived in my estimate of him—a thing that seldom happened to me. I always liked him until then. I thought him firm and sincere and generally reticent. I never recommended General Von Caprivi to the position of chancellor. I had once spoken to the Emperor about him as suitable for the position of Prussian prime minister at some future period. This was long before the Emperor demanded point blank that I ask to be relieved from office which I refused to do, offering a passive resistance to the demand. The Emperor had been in secret negotiations with General Von Caprivi, meanwhile keeping me away from Berlin under the pretext of sparing my health, but really in order to keep me from actual contact with the political situation."

The Vossische Zeitung, commenting upon the article in the North German Gazette upon the attitude of Prince Bismarck and the threat contained therein to publish certain documents to show that Prince Bismarck once strongly supported projects he now condemns, says the article shows it is possible for a truth to be put aside and the crushing of Prince Bismarck to be undertaken.

The Tageblatt says: "The die is cast. Prince Bismarck has attained the object for which he has striven during the last two years and has forced the government to take up the gauntlet he has so often thrown at its feet, but to attain this Prince Bismarck has been obliged to abandon the role of an anonymous journalist. He has personally taken his place in the breach. With the full weight of his historic name he exposes Chancellor Von Caprivi to the eyes of foreign nations, and discredits him by means of reckless dialectic."

"All patriots," the Tageblatt adds, "will regard the procedure with aching hearts, but, at the same time they will admit that the government acts in self-defense, when it resolves to no longer expose itself to the poisoned arrows of its adversaries. Chancellor Von Caprivi's question whether Prince Bismarck's conduct is patriotic will be answered by a majority of the nation with a sorrowful but decided negative. Out and out Bismarckians may take the part of the Prince against the government, but it is impossible to believe that the pronunciamento of this civilian Wallenstein will be crowned with success."

The National Zeitung says it trusts the dispute will soon be ended. It assumes that Prince Bismarck's attitude is influenced by resentment at the Emperor of Austria refusing him an audience when he was in Vienna to attend Count Herbert's wedding. The National Zeitung then appeals to Prince Bismarck's patriotism to end what it terms "a regretable political spectacle."

"CLOSE YOUR HEAD,"

And Hand Over Five Thousand Dollars.

A Dime Novel Reader Makes a Failure in an Attempted Bank Robery.

Denver, Colo., June 30.—An innocent-looking blue-eyed boy walked into the National Bank of Commerce shortly before noon Tuesday. Nobody took particular notice of him as he handed a note to Paying Teller Barton.

A moment later crack went the report of a revolver, and the officials of the bank were thrown into a fever heat at the thought of a murder. All eyes were turned to the paying teller's desk, whence the sound came.

There stood D. A. Barton, the occupant, surrounded by a wreath of smoke, but uninjured and safe. He was behind and not in front of the shot, and in the twinkling of an eye had been transformed into a hero.

It was the old story. A demand for money under threat of instant death in case of refusal. Instead of complying the paying teller drew his revolver and fired a shot at the would-be robber. The daring spirit of the bank official completely took the starch out of the robber, and he slunk off like a whipped cur.

The story of the affair reads like a chapter from a dime novel. As Barton, the teller, was ensconced behind the high network that surrounds the interior of the bank a young man, well-dressed, came slyly up to the opening, and, instead of making oral demand, shoved through the opening a crumpled piece of paper, on which was scratched the following manifestation:

"I've got the drop on you. Keep your head closed and give me $5,000 quick, or eat cold lead."

The demand was a peculiar one, and was met in a way that surprised the holder-up. Quick as a flash Barton dodged beneath the counter and grasped a revolver. Without rising he fired full at the young robber in front of him. The latter as quickly ducked his head, and the bullet went whistling past him through a plate glass window into the street, which was crowded with people.

Strange to say, nobody was hit. The robber sprang to the door and ran down the street with an excited crowd in full chase. He ran four blocks, when he was overtaken, and he surrendered without a struggle, although he carried a loaded revolver in his hand.

On being escorted to the city jail, the would-be robber gave the name of Herbert Sullivan. He stated that he was recently from Baltimore and had served in Denver restaurants as a dishwasher. In explanation of his desperate deed he said he was hard up for money and came to the conclusion that something desperate must be done or he would go to the wall. He gave his age as 18.

A close scrutiny of the lad quickly demonstrated that he has not the making of a villain or desperado in his composition. In fact, his actions all through the episode told that story. He declared that he had no pal in the attempt.

This attempt recalls the robbery of D. H. Moffat, March 29, 1889. The perpetrator in that instance was a self-possessed man, and his plans were well laid. It was not the wild attempt of a boy, as in this case. On the above mentioned day a rather tall and jauntily dressed man called on Moffat at 1 o'clock in his private office at the First National bank. He stated he must have $21,000, and with pistol in hand, he made Mr. Moffat step to the teller's window and present a check for that amount. Mr. Moffat and he returned to the private office and the teller brought the money. After warning Mr. Moffat that he would blow up the building if any alarm was given before he was out of it, he quickly walked out and no clue has ever been found or his identity, although his case has occupied the attention of the most skillful detectives of the west.

ALMOST CONVICTED.

Two Young Girls Saved from the Penitentiary by the Alertness of a Juryman.

Wheeling, W. Va., June 30.—There was a rather remarkable episode in the United States court at Parkersburg to-day. Laura Snead, aged 9, and Minnie Veacy, aged 12, were arraigned for burglary in entering the Huntington postoffice. The court assigned the girls' council in the person of ex-Gov. John A. Hutchinson, and they pleaded guilty.

In order to sentence them under the law it was necessary to have some evidence, and the Huntington postmaster was sworn and took the stand.

While he was testifying one of the grand jury happened to come into the court room, saw what was going on and hurried back into the grand jury room.

In a moment the foreman of the jury ran out and called the attention of the district attorney and the court to the fact that the indictment in the case of the girls was indorsed "not a true bill." The fact had escaped the attention of everyone, and in a few minutes more the girls would have been sentenced to the penitentiary.

OUR COMMON SCHOOLS.

Continuation of the Session in Cleveland.

Educational Affairs Discussed by Men Well Able to Cope with the Subject.

Cleveland, June 30.—The deep interest manifested in the educational work of the state by the members of the Teachers' association was shown in the large attendance at the second day's sessions of their annual meeting in Association hall yesterday.

The hall was crowded that many of the teachers stood during the sessions. At 9:30 o'clock Mr. C. S. Fay, of Wyoming, the chairman of the executive committee, introduced Rev. B. F. Dimmick, who offered prayer. Mr. L. W. Day, ex-superintendent of the Cleveland schools, then delivered the address of welcome in behalf of the city and the Cleveland school teachers. His speech was confined chiefly to the growth of this city and the interest manifested by its people in educational subjects. Mr. Fay responded in fitting terms.

The association were entertained before beginning business with a recitation by Mrs. Virginia Mercer, of Salem. She recited the chariot race from "Ben Hur." Mr. Fay then surrendered the gavel to President W. J. White, of Dayton, who retained control of the meeting the remainder of the day.

Mr. White delivered the inaugural address, his subject being "The Waste in Education." The first part of the address was of a reminiscent character, for it is thirteen years since the association held a meeting in Cleveland. At the meeting in 1879 many prominent educators were present who have since died. Mr. White referred to their lives and works, adding words of tribute to his recital of the outlines of their history. Coming to the subject in hand, he spoke of the wasts that are permitted in the educational system of the state. The lack of teachers and the employment of incompetent instructors, were, he said, minor wastes of the money appropriated to educate the youth of the state as compared with the waste caused by the mixing of politics with educatinal affairs. Mr. White thought that politics should be kept out of chool matters entirely.

Professor John Simpson, of Mansfield, was the first to discuss the question. He had no fault to find with any of the propositions laid down by President White, but he called attention to the waste produced by the indiscriminate classification of the slow plodding students with the brilliant ones. Mr. Thomas Vickers, of Portsmouth, also added to the fund of knowledge concerning waste in education.

The regular order of business was suspeded for a short time and State School Commissioner O. T. Corson introduced ex-Secretary Dan J. Ryan, the Columbian Exposition Commissioner of Ohio, who spoke briefly of the Ohio educational exhibit at Chicago.

While under the suspension of the regular order of business ex-School Commissioner C. C. Miller, of Hamilton, offered resolutions asking the general assembly to make it compulsory upon board of educations to purchase for use in the schools, Professor Henry Howe's "Historical Encyclopedia of Ohio." At the last session of the general assembly a joint resolution authorizing the boards to do so was adopted and now it is the idea to make the purchase compulsory.

The resolutions were unanimously adopted. Mr. Howe, the author, was called to the platform to extend thanks for the endorsement of his work. He is a venerable man, with a fine head covered with long hair, perfectly white. His full beard is also white.

Mrs. Carrie M. Lathrop, principal of the Cincinnati Normal School, read an able production in answer to the question "What Constitutes Satisfactory Normal Training and How it Can be Secured?" The breadth of the subject gave Mrs. Lathrop almost unbounded liberty to advocate her ideal of the normal school. She wants one of a dual nature. One department is to be devoted to instruction in theories and the other to practice. Two years she advocated as sufficient time in which to train the prospective teacher, if that was the purpose of the student. She advocated the devotion of a whole building to normal instruction purposes.

NOBODY KNOWS HIM.

Mysterious Man Commits Suicide in Buffalo.

He Had Trouble on His Mind But Would Not Unload It to His Friends.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 30.—The body of a mysterious suicide lies at the morgue awaiting identification. It is that of a young man, who was found dead in the park on Tuesday afternoon, with a bullet-hole in his head and a revolver in his right hand.

The body has been recognized as that of a man who came here last Friday. At the depot he met Rev. Mr. Bond and told him he was in trouble. Mr. Bond sent him to the Y. M. C. A. building, where Secretary Allard had a talk with him.

The man acted strangely, would give no name or information about himself, but said he had committed a sin that knew no forgiveness and was particularly anxious to know if the secretary thought a murderer could enter heaven.

He said he had come from England about three months ago and had been in Canada. There was nothing found on the body which would lead to the man's identification.

THE STARS AND STRIPES.

They Will Soon Float From the Masts of Big Steamers.

Philadelphia, June 30.—There were rumors to-day that the International Navigation company will soon comply with the terms of the recent act of congress admitting the steamships City of New York and City of Paris to American registry, and requiring four ships of similar size and swiftness to be constructed in the United States. The ships, it is also rumored, would be built by the William Cramp & Sons Ship and Engine Building company.

EXODUS TO EUROPE.

New York, June 30.—Over 5,000 people left for Europe to-day on outgoing steamers. The Inman liners City of Paris and City of Chester alone carried 2,033 cabin passengers.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

To-day closes the first series in the Western league race and Columbus has had the pennant won so long that all interest has dropped out. Milwaukee will close second. The other teams are scattered from that point to the tail end, the only club that has not been in the race at any stage being Indianapolis. From a base ball playing standpoint the series has been fairly successful, some good ball being played. From a financial standpoint it has been disastrous, due wholly to the awful weather. The second series may result better, at least all lovers of base ball cannot but hope it will.

CLEVELAND STREET CAR STRIKE

The Men Go to Work On a Compromise.

Cleveland, June 30.—The strike of the employes of the East Cleveland Railroad company is ended and their cars are running on regular time to-day. The company modified their last proposition to the extent of consenting to take back all of their old employes and leave the matter of discharging men in the hands of Superintendent Duty.

The union was not recognized in the matter, however. The strikers accepted these terms, which include the granting of the wages and hours of work asked for.

The settlement does not apply to the Broadway and Newberg street railroad, though the company are willing to grant everything in the terms accepted by the East Cleveland men except that as to the reinstatement of all the strikers. Superintendent Stanley still refuses to take back the men who were arrested for interfering with cars. A conference will be held this morning for the purpose of reaching a settlement, if possible.

TRANSCONTINENTAL TRAMP.

J. Edward Stone Claims to Have Walked Across the Country.

New York, June 30.—J. Edward Stone, who claims to have started to walk from San Francisco on February 22 last, to make a transcontinental tour on foot, has arrived in this city and reported at the Police Gazette office.

He was not due here until July 4. Mr. Stone looked as fresh and clean-limbed as if he had just taken a constitutional. He said he never felt better in his life and that he stood ready to undertake a 5,000-mile walk against time if he could get "backing." The distance covered by him on his alleged trip measures 3,324 miles. For a man who had roughed it across the continent Stone looked very pale.

His cheeks did not have the ruddy color that comes with outdoor exercise, and his story of sleeping in shanties and their location did not sound genuine. He expects to go into the museum business at once, and has an engagement in a local museum for two weeks. Stone is a native of Maryland, is a machinist by trade. He produced 11 pairs of shoes that he said he had worn out on his walk east.

AT WOODLAWN.

Various Improvements in the Way of Drives, Etc.

Extensive improvements have been made at Woodlawn cemetery this spring. A building has been erected in which is combined storerooms, a water tank and an observatory. A new wind mill has also been put in. About half a mile of new drives have been laid out together with another section. About $2,000 have been put into improvements.

A FLY OLD MAN

Who Wasn't as Innocent as He Looked.

James Mitchell, an old man who looks for all the world like Dr. Mulo Medicus in We, Us & Co., as innocent apparently as a lamb, was examined this morning in police court. He was charged with robbing the guests at the Empire house, going through their clothes while they slept. He told a funny story of how he found some of the stolen articles where he was sleeping in the lane. He was bound over to the court of common pleas and bail fixed at $800.

HIT WITH A BRICK.

A colored man, Albert White, died yesterday afternoon from the effects, it is thought, of an assult made by Wallace Powell. Powell hit White with a brick a week or so ago and was sent to the workhouse. Powell was brought back to the police station last night to await the result of the coroner's inquest.

GETTING READY FOR THE FRAY.

Third Ward Democrats Have a Move on Themselves.

A goodly number of the democrats of the Third ward met at the court house last night in adjourned session and considered many matters of interest. A committee was appointed to arrange a constitution and code of by-laws, and report will be made at another meeting to be held next Wednesday. The committee is composed of George B. Boone, Sylvester Lamb, J. P. Delphey, E. D. Schebele, John Beck, M. Kraft and A. Koch. A committee was also chosen to select suitable headquarters for the club. The best of feeling prevails among the members, and a good account will surely follow from the efforts made for organization.

There will be a hare and hound chase every Thursday evening during the summer.

There will be no club runs during July and August.

The club has purchased an elegant diamond set medal, which will be presented to the member having the largest mileage by December 1. Everybody wishing to start should notify the captain..

MARENGO PARK.

Grand Opening of the Resort Saturday.

Marengo Park, an institution connected with the Maumee River Navigation company, will give its first grand opening on Saturday. It is one of the most beautiful spots along the Maumee, and will undoubtedly jump into popular favor. A large dancing pavillion and club house have been erected, and scattered throughout the stately and lovely grove are seats and tables for picnickers. The steamer Burt will run between Toledo, Marengo Park, and Perrysburg on a schedule which will go into effect Saturday. On and after that date there will be evening excursions up the river by the Burt, which, by the way, is now one of the handsomest and swiftest boats on the river.

THEY ARE CONFERRING.

Officers of the Sixteenth Regiment in the City.

A number of the officers of the Sixteenth regiment, Ohio National Guard, met this morning at the office of Col. Bunker, to consider regimental matters. The principal topic discussed was the annual encampment. Competition is quite earnest on the part of the different localities to look after the sojer boys, and some difficulty is experienced in arriving at a conclusion. Shortly after noon, Manager Quale escorted the entire staff to Presque Isle, where dinner was served, after which an examination of the Island will be made for encampment purposes. No better place could be selected, and it will be hoped by citizens generally that the annual meeting will be held at Presque Isle.

TIP-O-TIP

And His Gang Tore Milwaukee Wide Open.

The Cincinnati Post, speaking of the exposure of the Zulu prince, Tip-o-Tip, says:

Only a few days ago Tip-O-Tip lectured before the local Y. M. C. A. and was given a swell reception. There has always been a doubt as to his identity.

Chief Deitsch received a letter several days ago stating that the fellow is wanted in Milwaukee with two of his gang, who literally tore the town wide open while they were there.

The matter was placed in the hands of Detective Callahan, who searched all over the city for the trio, but could not find them. It is thought they got wind of the matter and skipped out.

The story told of the way the fellow operates is startling. He poses as a lecturer and in this manner is courted by wealthy people. He is taken to their homes, and being a slick talker he is entertaining and tells remarkable stories of his alleged home in Africa. While he is telling these stories he is taking in the lay of the house making a mental plan of the place as it were. He tips this off to his gang, who number about four persons, and the house is burglarized and the booty divided.

ELLIOT INSANE.

The Sewing Machine Agent Arrested for Embezzlement.

J. C. Elliot, who was arrested for embezzlement from Mr. Hayes, the piano and sewing machine dealer at 608 Cherry street, was examined by Dr. Fisher this morning and pronounced insane. His case will be settled in the probate court.

THE LATE WRECK

At Maumee Avenue Bridge—Suit for $10,000 Filed.

Fred Mamment, administrator, sued the Consolidated Street Railway company, the Lake Shore railway company, and the city of Toledo in common pleas court today to recover $10,000 damages for the death of his decedent, Frank Mamment.

The deceased it will be remembered was killed in the street car wreck at the Maumee avenue bridge over the Lake Shore railroad.

TWO BOY THIEVES

Caught in the Act and Found Guilty in Court.

Joseph and Fred Miller, two boys about 14 years of age, were found guilty in police court this morning of stealing cigars from the case in Gus Triquet's barber shop, on Superior street. They were caught by means of a flash light photographic apparatus, the invention of Will Harbeck. They set the machine working by stepping on a mat behind the case. Sentence was reserved.

BUILDING OPERATIONS.

Permits for the Montecello and Other Structures Taken Out.

Mr. Charles S. Ashley will at once commence the erection of the handsome business block on the corner of Jefferson and Michigan streets. It is to be called the Montecello, and the work will be done by Contractor Hanahan. The building permit taken out yesterday states that the building will cose $20,000.

Other permits have been issued to F. C. Man for a $200 brick addition on Hamilton street; Fred Fay, two frame dwellings on Clark street, to cost $450 each; F. E. Wright, four frame dwellings on Wisconsin street, to cost in the total $5,400.

HOW OTHERS LOOK AT IT.

Proceedings Filed in Supreme Court on the Street Railway Contest.

The Cleveland Journal has the following this morning relative to the suit filed by the Consoliated in the supreme court:

'The case of the Toledo Consolidated Street Railway company against the Toledo Electric Street Railway company, error to the circuit court of Lucas county, was yesterday filed in the supreme court. The various lines in Toledo were consolidated in 1885 and the old companies comprisin it resist the appropriation by the new electric road of property for a new road, and have enjoined the new company from running over the track of the Consolidated, whose officers claim the exclusive right to the streets under various ordinances and charters. The Consolidated has been bested so far.

"BILLY," THE PORTER,

Who Has Done Service at the Boody for Twenty Years.

It is worthy of note that the only man to-day in Toledo who was in the Boody house at its opening, June 27, 1872, is "Billy" Halloran, the porter. Steadily for 20 years he has stuck to his post of duty as porter, probably handling more trunks and luggage at one hotel than any man in Ohio.

"Billy" came to Toledo from the Weddel house at Cleveland, with his brother, Richard, who was Billy's aid at the Boody, till going on an excursion, he was swept overboard from the Uncle Sam steamer 15 years ago and drowned in Lake Erie. Long life and more power to the genial 20-year faithful porter of the Boody, the only man who lives June 27, 1892, to say, "I was in it June 27, 1872 and have been there steady 20 years."

THE MACHINISTS

Elected Officers and Made Preparations for a Jollification.

The International Association of Machinists held their regular meeting at Turley's hall last evening and elected the following officers: For master machinist, Lew Salkald was re-elected; foreman, G. H. Davis; treasurer, W. Kaukee; recording secretary, John Braunschweiger, re-elected by acclamation; financial secretary, Wm. Brown; conductor, John Wernett; statistician, W. H. Cole; trustee, J. A. McMichael; inside sentinel, G. Strub; outside sentinel, F. B. March. Four new members were initiated and two applications for membership received. Communications from Detroit, Sandusky, Bucyrus, Findlay and Cleveland lodges were read. They are making arrangements to meet at Put-in-Bay the last of July, and expect to have a grand jollification.

NO TRUTH IN IT.

Mr. Ketcham Will Not Leave the Bank, or Toledo, Either.

The unfounded statement of an evening paper that Mr. J. B. Ketcham, 2d, was about to retire from the Ketcham National bank aroused some indignation among the managers and directors of the bank.

"You can quote me as saying that the statement is without the shadow of truth," said Mr. E. W. Tolerton, one of the directors, to a Bee this morning. "The matter has never even been dreamt of, and I am astonished to find a newspaper capable of concocting such a bald-headed falsehood."

"Does Mr. Ketcham propose removing to Chicago?"

"No sir, he does not. Mr. Ketcham will return from Europe next month and assume his duties as president of the bank. The whole statement is false, calculated to injure the credit of the bank."

"It has been stated that there is some friction between the directors."

"That is also untrue," and Mr. Tolerton looked, as he evidently felt, indignant. "There is not and has not been the slightest hitch; everything is going along swimmingly, and the bank never was in a better condition."

COUNCIL COMMITTEES

Approve Matters Laid Before Them for Report.

The matter of widening Scottwood avenue at Monroe street was again before the committee on ways and means of the council last evening. The verdict in the condemnation proceedings had awarded to Mrs. A. M. Norton, $2,546 for a piece of property which it was intended to use in the street. Other property owners considered this excessive, however, and asked that the matter be dropped. At the meeting last evening a communication was presented from Mrs Norton, stating that she would be willing to let the matter drop if she was repaid the expense to which she had been put by the suit. The committee was given to understand that the property owners would reimburse Mrs. Norton, and therefore it was decided not to widen the street.

The committee on police and health discussed the pest house question, but rejected a recommendation from the health board that the pest house be located on the Auburndale road near the creek. No definite action was taken as to any other location.

The committee will meet at the police station this afternoon to consider the matter of improvements in that building.

THE CHICAGO BLOCKADE

The Tugs Cannot Clear the Harbor.

One Big Craft Delayed Ten Days.

Much Complaint from Among Vessel Men — Passages Through the Lakes and Rivers.

Chicago, June 30.—(Special)—The harbor masters were getting in their work in the south branch yesterday endeavoring to keep a small channel open for the passage of craft up and down. It was a difficult task, however. Large steam and tow craft were congregated about the elevators and the stubborness of some of the masters and mates only caused their steamers more delay in the end. For each elevator several crafts are chartered to load and a large number of new orders were given for craft to load at the Alton house yesterday.

The new charters for grain yesterday numbered seventeen, and all these are crowding into the south branch before old, delayed grain fleet get out. The steamer Charles Eddy and the barge Newell Eddy were gotten down out of the branch out of the way yesterday. It took the tugs all the afternoon to bring the Newell Eddy down and she was then red-balled at Wells street and held until last night. The steamer Nahant, which has been so long detained in port, only had 10,000 bushels of her cargo on board last night. The schooner R. B. Hayes was ahead of her at the Alton elevator and a large number right behind her in the order of loading.

Wonder was expressed during the afternoon that the orders of some of the vessels were not changed from the Alton to other houses. The Nahant will have to visit two other elevators after leaving the Alton, and her master did not think last evening that she would get away from Chicago much before Monday. She has been here now about ten days.

Other large craft have suffered similar delay and there is great grumbling. The owners and masters are bitter in their complaint against their treatment in Chicago and say they will never send their vessels here again when they can get charters to other ports, even at less rates.

New York, June 30.—Money easy at 1 1-2@ 2 per cent. Exchange steady; posted rates $4.88@4.89; actual rates $4.87@4.87 1-4 for 60 days and $4.88@4.88 1-4 for demand.

Governments steady; currency 6s $1.06 bid; extended 2s registered $1.00 bid; 4s coup. $1.17 1-2 bid.

Stocks are extremely dull again this morning, only 58,707 shares changing hands. Chicago Gas, National Cordage, Reading, Sugar trusts and a few others absorbed most of the speculative interest. In the first hour Chicago Gas declined 1 1-8c to 79, while National Cordage lost two percent. to $1.16 and rallied to $1.17 1-4. The general list declined fractionally in sympathy. During the second hour the market was practically stagnant. At this writing it is still lifeless.

Buffalo.

Buffalo, June 30.—Coal freights strong and quiet. Charters, Helena, Milwaukee, 60c; Dan Rogers, Saginaw, 40c; Three Brothers, Manitowoc, 60c.

Duluth.

Duluth, June 30.—Extra storage charges have gone into effect, and shippers are no longer anxious for boats. Rates to-day continue strong at 3c.

Buffalo.

Buffalo, June 30.—President Powers, of the Seamen's union, who cut Shipping Master Lynch yesterday, was discharged in police court this morning.

Cleveland.

Cleveland, June 30.—The freight situation is again little stronger to-day and brokers are asking 75, on the claim that they can bring no Escanaba tonnage to the market at 70, but shippers say they can hold off for a day or two. Conditions are altogether in favor of an advance. A New Ashland rate of $1.15 was paid on another pair of boats this morning. Milwaukee coal shippers, who have been pressed with large supplies of coal, and little tonnage for ten days, are trying to cover blocks of 10,000 to 15,000 tons but refuse to advance the "wild rates."

On North Fox.

Mackinaw, June 30.—It is the German, and not the Grecian, of the Menominee Transit line, which is on North Fox island. It is expected that she will be released today by the wrecking tug Favorite. The German has iron ore from Escanaba.

Nearly twenty years have we sold the Kranich & Bach pianos, and each and every one has and is still giving perfect satisfaction. How many dealers can say as much of any other make of piano? Without the assistance of artists traveling in their behalf, has the Kranich & Bach steadily gained in public favor, until it stands to-day the equal of any piano in the market. A reputation gained by actual merit will stand as long as time. Parties desiring a strictly first-class instrument without paying the extra cost incurred by those employing high salaried artists to travel about in the interests of their pianos, will do well to look into the many superior merits and patented improvements of the famous Kranich & Bach. A full line always in stock.

USING HARSH WORDS.

The Irish Campaign Grows Interesting.

A Priest Uses Language Which Calls Out a Rebuke from Archbishop Walsh.

Dublin, June 30.—In a letter to the clergy, Archbishop Walsh states that language calculated to incite to turbulence has been addressed to the people.

He declares that the duty of the clergy is to use their best efforts to preserve the tranquility of the country.

Attention is drawn simultaneously with the appearance of this letter to a speech which a priest named Behan delivered recently at a McCarthyite meeting in which he said:

"The followers of Parnell did homage to lust. All loose livers, drunkards and wife beaters were Parnellites. All virtuous Irishmen belonged to the national federation."

This speech enraged the Parnellites present, who hooted Behan. The latter then cried out "when we are your masters we will crush you."

An uproar ensued. The priest asked the McCarthyites to eject the Parnellites, but no one ventured to do so, whereupon Father Behan threatened to call the police and have the Parnellites clubbed.

Some one cried "The day for that is over." This led to loud applause. The presence of the police finally enabled the meeting to disperse peaceably. The Parnellite organ, Independent, says that any layman using such language as Father Behan's would be horsewhipped. It adds that the people will end these priestly indecencies if Archbishop Walsh does not.

THOMAS BEER, of Crawford.
For Clerk of Supreme Court,

It would seem that President Harrison is determined to crush and humiliate Mr. Blaine and punish all who followed his leadership to defeat in Minneapolis. The appointment of Mr. John W. Foster, of Indiana, to succeed Blaine in the State department is especially offensive to the ex-secretary's friends. It was Foster's official act on the evening which caused Blaine's resignation. The story was printed at the time. The Canadian commissioners were in conference with Mr. Blaine, and the position of the United States was announced by the Secretary. Mr. Foster, who was present, interrupted Mr. Blaine with a flat contradiction and said the president did not authorize the statement made by the Secretary. Thereupon Mr. Blaine adjourned the conference and immediately resigned. The appointment of Foster to succeed Blaine aggravates the insult and will be so understood by the Blaine faction of the republican party. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, a stanch republican paper, takes this view of the matter and regrets that the President is so revengeful. The monument of harmony grows every day and is piled mountain high.

The San Francisco Call says, the question of paramount importance to Californians is "How is the state to escape the oppressive control of the Central and Southern Pacific railroad companies? Nobody disputes the oppression, manifest in every possible way. The officers of the state are filled with agents of these companies." The Call is a republican newspaper. The republican party is in league with the corporations of which it complains so grievously. M. H. DeYoung, the Man Friday of the Southern Pacific, is Vice Chairman of the republican national committee and was even talked of as candidate for the vice presidency. The Call will not make very great headway trying to break the power of this monopoly while it gives its influence to keep the present administration, or another one like it, in power. The republican party is for the railroads and against the people in every legislative act recorded by it. Californians who get what they vote and work for should not complain.

For a high-tax organ to leave out of its news columns all account of the labor excitement and trouble at the Homestead mills in Pennsylvania proves three things: The organ knows it is poison and death to republican protection argument; the organ mistakes itself in thinking that its readers want hear about it if it doesn't tell them; and the organ proves itself too narrowly partisan and petty to deserve for a second the name of a "news" paper. A Boston organ did better than the majority of its kind: it published the news and then said its editorial columns, the reason of the labor trouble in the Pennsylvania regions was because the protective duty was not sufficient to protect.

Governor McKinley said, in a New York ratification speech, "we can afford to wait to night; Lord Salisbury has made a speech for protection, to his English colleagues." Lord Salisbury advises retaliation on the United States by taxing our breadstuffs and making a trade treaty with Canada for food supply. And Mr. McKinley thinks this is a great protection victory. It would prove so, to England if republican theory were correct: that the importer pays the tax. Our farmers would pay for the privilege of selling in the English market and the English consumer would get the benefit! If. Mr. McKinley is wise, he wont invite the farmers to "laugh over the English idea of retaliation.

The Courier-Journal is not doing itself great credit in the claims it makes for Mr. Watterson. There were a good many unsound people at the Chicago convention. They know whether it is true that the editor of the Courier-Journal went to Chicago expecting nothing: he got it: as for temporary chairman: Stevenson for vice president, and a ringing platform declaration in favor of "Tariff for Revenue Only."

This argument is used to prove that the Kentucky editor is eating no crow in his support of the ticket. If Mr. Watterson can as just as he is able, he would not make such a boast for himself.

Mr. Dana likes the brass cheek—iron and copper plated—of the high-protectionist, to see a man to stand up before an intelligent audience in these days and din the story of "protection to labor" through the nation. In the most extensive and most conspicuous instance of an infant industry grown to a giant (and still protected), labor is proclaimed. Even the imported labor of the old world refuses to be quiet under the imposition. Labor strikes in protected industries have been more frequent and determined since the McKinley bill became operative than ever before. And yet the humbug argument is presented to the people.

Mr. Carnegie is wandering amidst the beauties of his English baronial estate and Mr. Phipps, his partner, is at home with his lordly self in the famous grounds of Knebworth, Lord Lytton's ancestral country seat, while their managers are barricading the great mills against the starving workmen who insist upon living in this thrice protected country. Consistent labor: doesn't it know that a mint of money to run palaces in many different countries

The whole republican machine in Washington is to be put in motion for the benefit of the administration. Mr. Hale and his fellows need no investigation as to the effect of tariff on wages. Let them listen to the voices of 5,000 "protected" workmen in the Carnegie & Phipps employ in Pennsylvania. Let them go down and inspect the barricade of plank and barbed wire Mr. Carnegie has builded against union laboring men who protest against a cut in wages!

The Boston Journal is unconsciously prophetic in its editorial utterances. It says, "behind the mugwump Cleveland stalks Stevenson, the headsman, with republican scalps in his belt." The organ also shows its comprehension of the duties of vice president when it says "he is ready to work the spoils system again, to the satisfaction of Tammany hall." Evidently the Journal isn't happy over prospects.

Tammany hall is decorated with a monster beautiful banner bearing the names of Cleveland and Stevenson, and it is a Tammany man who offered, in print several days ago, to cover Mr. Quay's bluff bet for Harrison. The tiger is a wise animal if not an affectionate one, and republicans who are counting upon its claws to rend those of its own household would better turn their attention to Platt and his knife-in-sleeve brigade.

The national prohibition convention in Cincinnati adjourned long enough to take a trip "over the Rhine." The sights there beheld inspired the good men and women to redoubled effort and Cincinnati will be held up as a frightful example to people of the country this campaign. A special committee might be sent to Maine to see how prohibition does not prohibit in that land of Blaine and Neal Dow.

The Australian ballot law in Indiana has knocked out the blocks-of-five method. Mr. Harrison has no further use for Mr. Dudley. A new man and a new plan are demanded for the present exigency. When Mr. Harrison can no longer use a man, he kicks him out with neatness and dispatch. Clarkson's public exit was a good illustration.

A white man was lynched last week Thursday, near Shelbyville, Tenn., for brutal murder of his wife. This brazen defiance of law and order, in the south, hasn't moved an outrage-loving organ to protest. If the man had been black, the welkin would ring with threats of massacre and bloodshed.

The talk about any of the southern states voting against Cleveland, while Harrison and the republican party make the Force bill the issue in the south is nonsense hardly worth noticing. The south isn't built that way.

Quay says "Harrison is bound to win." Quay also said "Blaine is sure to be nominated." Quay has his uses but he is no great shakes as a prophet.

FISH OR CUT BAIT.

Senator Hill Must Get a Move on Himself.

New York, June 30.—Senator David B. Hill, who has been the guest of Gen. Ferdinand P. Earle at Normandie-by-the-Sea, arrived in this city yesterday morning and went to Gen. Earle's New York hotel, the Normandie, where he received his friends, political and otherwise, until the afternoon, when he left for Washington. Mr. Hill, when asked whether he was preparing a statement for the press, said he had nothing to say on the subject at present.

Col. Paul Dana, son of the editor of the Sun, was in enference with Mr. Hill for about half an hour yesterday afternoon, and it was said at the hotel that Mr. Dana had impressed upon Senator Hill the necessity of writing a letter at once. In view wof Mr. Hill's reticence it is believed that he has a statement in course of preparation.

A MISSING SHIP.

The Fred B. Taylor Was the Boat in Collision with the Trave.

New wYork, June 30.—The steamship Lahn, which arrived here last night, removes all doubt by the report she makes of the identity of the vessel which was in collision with the steamship Trave and the safety of the crew. The Lahn reports that on June 26 she passed the Trave, which signalled that she had on board the crew of a ship whose signal letters were given as "H. V. S. R." These are the signal letters of the missing ship Fred B. Taylor, of Yarmouth

STEWART DENIES IT.

He Never Threatened to Leave the Republican Party.

New York, June 30.—A special to the Herald from Washington says that Senator Stewart in answer to a question as to whether he had written a letter bolting the republican party, as stated in a dispatch from Omaha, made a statement absolutely denying that he had written any letter upon which such a construction could be placed.

EVIDENCE OF A WRECK.

New York, June 30.—The steamer Spaarndam, from Rotterdam, on June 29, in latitude 40.43, longitude 69.07, passed the afterpart of a sailing vessel with round stern. There was only a white rail to be seen on her quarter deck. This was undoubtedly the Fred B. Taylor, which was cut down by the North German Lloyd steamer Trave on June 22.

CURRENT COMMENT.

It is pretty evident that the republican party does not think it worth while to cater for the workingmen's vote this fall.—Utica Press (Ind.)

Mr. Halstead begins to see the shadow of empire athwart Mr. Cleveland's coat tails. If these symptoms continue Mr. Halstead will have to return to the German baths.—St. Louis Republic (Dem.)

There are signs of the disintigration of the people's party in Kansas. Frank McGrath and other original leaders of the alliance movement have withdrawn publicly and claim that the people's party in that state is under the control of jackleg lawyers and loafers, and is being manipulated solely in the interest of the democracy, while the farmers are ignored entirely.—Denver Times (Rep.)

The fight must come in the west, and, as the most important of the Mississippi valley states, must be carried on chiefly in Illinois. The battle for Cleveland and Stevenson will be gallantly made in the west, and nowhere more zealously and eagerly than in Illinois, where democracy is supported by an excellent state ticket.—Chicago Times (Dem.)

Whatever may be the feeling in Washington it is plain from the tone of the gathering at Rochester that the leaders of the republican clubs of New York are indulging in no illusions. They understand that there is hard work to be done to win the electoral vote of the state and they are starting in early to sow the seed which will be harvested in republican votes on November 8.—Brooklyn Times (Rep.)

It is difficult for the republican newspapers to conceal their apprehension at the impending labor convulsion in Pittsburg. Some of them do not conceal it at all. It needs some grand object lesson like the Pittsburg lockout to persuade many well-meaning workingmen that they are mistaken. Many others found it out long ago. But what a magnificent check Carnegie, Phipps & Co. will give the national republican committee! —Rochester Herald (Dem.)

We are beginning to hear from England concerning the democratic nominee and platform. The London Globe is the most outspoken of the British newspapers yet heard from, and it congratulates its readers upon the "free trade" platform adopted. It does not call it the "tariff reform" platform, but the "free trade platform." It also regards Mr. Cleveland as a gentleman thoroughly in sympathy with the platform upon which his party has placed him.—Chicago Inter Ocean (Rep.)

CUT THE SHIP IN TWO

Story of the Wreck of the Fred B. Taylor.

She Was Struck by the Steamer Trave.

London, June 30.—The North Geman Lloyd steamship Trave, which left New York June 21, arrived at Southampton at 4:20 this morning.

The Trave had on board 247 cabin passengers and several hundred passengers in the steerage, and also Capt. E. F. Hurlbert and 20 men, the shipwrecked crew of the Nova Scotia full-rigged ship, the Fred B. Taylor, wrecked in collision with the Trave on the morning of June 22.

The Fred B. Taylor had been chartered for a voyage to Buenos Ayres, South America, from New York.

The Fred B. Taylor left Havre in ballast, and the voyage was without incident until early on the morning of the 22d, when captain and crew were looking forward to an early arrival in port. She was about 260 miles east of New York. A dense fog prevailed and it was impossible for the lookout to see a foot beyond the bows.

Suddenly was heard the throb of the engine of a great steamer and the swish of the waters as the steamship passed swiftly through the sea. Almost at the same instant the great vessel loomed up in the fog and just as the lookout shouted warning, at that moment the steamer crashed into the Fred. B. Taylor.

Capt. Hurlbert at the time was on the bridge, and his boat was cut very nearly in halves. The water rushed in like a torrent and the broken halves of the vessel sank out of sight.

Those of the crew who had escaped immediate death or injury were struggling in the water. The chief mate had been crushed to death in his cabin. Capt. Hurlbert had his legs badly hurt in the collision, but he forgot his own injuries in his anxiety to save his men who were now struggling for their lives in the water.

The Nova Scotians are, as a rule, good swimmers as well as good sailors, and this accounts for so many having been saved.

A Russian who was among the crew did not know how to swim and seemed from the first to lose his head. He tried to grab at others, who had all they could do to keep above the waves, which were running quite high, as there was a fresh sea.

Capt. Reimkasten and the other officers of the Trave acted with noble humanity and admirable promptness. The collision came to them as unexpectedly as to the Taylor. They were making good headway through the fog and taking the usual precautions when the steamer crashed into the ship at the same instant that the ship's outline became visible in the fog.

The Trave was brought as soon as possible to a full stop, and even while she was being stopped officers and crew were busy preparing the boats which were lowered within a few minutes after the collision. The German seamen leaped into the boats and with a few strokes they were among the struggling crew of the wrecked ship, pulling them in as fast as they could be reached. The captain of the Taylor would not permit himself to be rescued until he had seen the rest of his men safely in the boats. His legs had been crushed, but he kept encouraging the others and assisting them as far as he could.

The stewardess, the only female on board, was rescued with great difficulty. Several of the crew who were able to swim, took turns in helping to keep her above water. All were taken aboard the Trave in safety except the dead man and the drowned Russian.

The utmost care was given on the Trave to Capt. Hurlbert and his men, the surgeon of the steamer dressing the captain's injuries and soon putting him in a comfortable condition.

The crew of the ship had, of course, saved nothing, and the crew of the Trave generously provided them with necessities in the way of clothing and other articles.

Captain Hurlbert was for sometime suffering much pain but he is greatly improved now and insisted this morning on word being sent to America that he was all right. It appears, however, by the later statement of the surgeon of the Trave that Captain Hurlbert will require careful attention for some time.

The passengers on the Trave were so well pleased with the conduct of the officers and crew of the steamer in risking their lives in the rescue of the Taylor's crew that they held a meeting presided over by Col. Martin, and psased a resolution expressing their appreciation of the courage and devotion exhibited on the occasion by the officers and crew of the Trave, and it was ordered that a copy of this resolution be sent to the owners of the steamship.

THE FATHER WON.

Judge Millard Gave William Grabach His Child.

The Court Holds That He Has No Jurisdiction in Religious Troubles.

In a lengthy and clearly defined decision Judge Millard, of the probate court, decided the case of Ohio on relation of Wm. Grabach against Arthur Walton et al, habeas corpus proceedings, to gain possession of his daughter, whom he alleges the defendants held against his will. The particulars of the case appeared in the Bee yesterday. It developed that Grabach was willing to provide for his wife and children, but only on the condition that the children should not be raised in the Catholic faith.

The court held that no testimony had been introduced to show that the father of the child was an immoral or unfit man to raise his children, further than the difference between himself and wife as to religious belief. The court had no jurisdiction in the matters of religion. He gave the child to the father.

OHIO SCHOOLS.

They Will Make a Good Showing at the World's Fair.

Cleveland, June 30.—Hon. Daniel J. Ryan, of Columbus, commissioner for Ohio for the world's Columbian exposition, arrived at the Kennard house yesterday morning.

He came to the city for the purpose of interesting the members of the Ohio Teachers' association in the Ohio educational exhibit at the exposition.

He found the teachers willing to cooperate with him, and Mr. Ryan said last evening that in his opinion Ohio would have the finest exhibit of this kind of any state in the Union.

He decided yesterday to make application for 5,000 square feet of space for the Ohio educational exhibit, which is much larger than any other state has secured. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Ryan went to Case School of Applied Science, and was promised an exhibit from that institution. This will be in a different department from the public school work. Mr. Ryan said that he was receiving encouraging support throughout the state for the exposition, and he is firmly of the opinion that the showing which Ohio will make at the exposition will be one to be proud of.

MOONSHINING.

Knoxville, Tenn., June 30.—The moonshine business in east Tennessee is on the increase. Yesterday officers attacked a party of distillers at a still in the Chilhowie mountains and a big fight followed. One of the officers was fatally injured and a number of the mountaineers are thought to have been killed.

DROWNED AT SEA.

New York, June 30.—Leonard Dutch, a German seaman on board the British steamer Horrox, from Rio Janeiro, fell overboard on June 10 in latitude 70, longitude 53, and was drowned.

THEOSOPHIST POLITICS.

Question of the Presidency to be Settled by Occult Means.

New York, June 30.—"There may be a sensation in store for theosophists who attend the coming convention of the European section of the society, which will open in London on July 14," So said one of the most prominent members of the American section of the Theosophical society. The sensation, he said, if it came, would be in the shape of a communication from the mysterious brotherhood, or Mahatmas, who are supposed to guide the destinies of the society, in regard to the presidency of the organization.

Since the death of Mme. Blavatsky, Col. H. S. Olcott of this city has been president of the society, but he has tired of the duties of office and has sent in his resignation for the third time.

It was refused twice, and Col. Olcott's third resignation is now under consideration. If the mythical brotherhood should take it into their heads to force Col. Olcott to withdraw his resignation, it is said they will communicate to the convention through a chosen member of that body.

Should the Mahatmas decide to let matters take their natural course, however, Mr. Wm. Q. Judge of this city will succeed Col. Olcott as president of the organization. He has already been chosen for this position by the theosophists of India and Australia, and his election is a foregone conclusion unless the brotherhood should exercise their influence.

Mr. Judge, who is to sail for London to-morrow, explained that interference from this source was unusual and was exerted only for the good of the society. He is ambitious to succeed Col. Olcott, and the brotherhood, which he says is older than the Masonic order, may for this reason interfere.

An interesting matter that will come before the convention will relate to the urn that is to contain the portion of the ashes of Mme. Blavatsky that has been allotted to the London society. This urn has been subscribed for by members and friends of the society and is said to be a very fine work of art. Mr. Judge has in his possession a portion of Mme. Blavatsky's ashes, and some of them are also held by the Indian and Australian societies. Mr. Judge said he believed the brotherhood would take an active part in the London convention, but of course he could not say who would be the medium through whom they would send instructions to the delegates.

AID THE LITTLE ONES.

Poor Children's Day in Chicago.

Thousands Turn Out to Enjoy the Hospitality of the Good People of That City.

Chicago, June 30.—To-day in accordance with a proclamation issued by Mayor Washburne is Poor Childrens' Day. Chicago is the only city in the country which has such an event in its calendar, and the reason for its observance is thus set forth in the mayor's proclamation:

"Whereas, There are in the City of Chicago many thousands of poor children, most of whom battle manfully from year's end to year's end in the capacity of news boys, boot blacks, and at such other work as they can find to do in their struggle for existence, and whereas, it has been the annual custom during the past seven years through the benevolence of the citizens of Chicago to give these poor children an outing and picnic at Jackson Park.

Therefore, as mayor of the city I hereby proclaim the 30th of June as Poor Children's day, and call upon the citizens to warmly support the effort to give the poor and unfortunate children of Chicago a happy day's outing under the trees of our city parks, thus bringing into their clouded lives some of the gladness and sunshine so freely enjoyed by children in happier circumstances.'

The waifs began to assemble as early as 9 o'clock at the various newspaper offices and mission schools. Taylor E. Daniels, by appointment of the mayor, was director-general of the day, and after the different divisions had been formed there was a street parade in which fully 10,000 children were in line. Special trains were then taken for the park where the festivities of the day were held.

NEBRASKA REPUBLICANS

They are Trying to Stem the Opposition Tide.

Omaha, Neb., June 30.—The members of the republican state central committee are gathering here to-day for the purpose of fixing the time and place for the forthcoming state convention.

The growing strength of the alliance and democracy in Nebraska will make the coming gathering of more than ordinary importance.

The question of the apportioning of representation is one which will require the most careful consideration by the committee. If the vote cast for Post should be the basis for representation some of the counties will be entitled to as many as twenty votes more than ever before.

In the Post campaign many republicans who had left the ranks in other campaigns returned, and it is held that these temporary absentees are entitled to be counted.

The question will be to determine to what man the true strength of the republican party was enlisted and to make his vote the basis of representation in the convention.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

St. Louis, June 30.—Capt. Joseph White, a well-known river man, committed suicide last night by shooting himself with a revolver. The cause for suicide is believed to have resulted from shame and remorse. Capt. White was arrested yesterday on complaint of a woman who charged him with assaulting her in the cabin of his boat.

MINERS TO STRIKE.

Ouray, Col., June 30.—Ten thousand miners in the San Juan district will strike July 1 against a reduction of wages agreed upon by the managers. People generally throughout this section are averse to any trouble with the miners, as it would be a great blow to business interests.

ANNUAL SHUT DOWN.

Bellaire, O., June 30.—All the glass factories at this place have been permanently shut down, the manufacturers claiming that they could not compete with with the factories located in natural gas towns. About 650 men are out of employment.

SHE BEAT HIM OUT.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 30.—Sam Looney, a laborer, became involved in a scuffle with his wife Tuesday night near this city and both made for a gun near by. She beat him to it, and killed him as he ran out of the door.

BIG LUMBER FIRM.

Merrill, Ring & Co., of Saginaw, Locate in Toledo.

An Enterprise that Promises to be of Great Importance—A Twenty Acre Lumber Yard with Planing Mills.

Merrill, Ring & Co., Saginaw, one of the largest and wealthiest lumber firms in Michigan, have decided to locate in Toledo, and two members of the firm have been in this city for a week hunting up a location.

The firm owns large tracts of timber lands in Canada, and it is the object to make Toledo the distributing point for the Canada lumber.

The company proposes having immense yards and planing mills here, and the concern, it is said, will cover an area of 20 acres.

Two desirable sites have been offered, and one of them will be selected.

Mr. Merrill left Toledo yesterday for Toronto, but will return in a week or so to complete arrangements. The firm will be operating here within a month, and will start with not less than 20,000,000 feet of lumber.

THEY WERE A SUCCESS

Exercises Incident to Commencement

Of the Hashville Academy, Held at First Presbyterian Church—Brilliant Orations, Etc.

The burlesque commencement exercises of the Hashville academy, given at the First Presbyterian church last evening was a most novel entertainment and a success from beginning to end.

It was a life-sized presentation of such an event as it is usually conducted in the rural districts. The sweet girl graduates were rigged out in their best bib and tucker, and the young men of the class were dressed in their store clothes and "biled" shirts. The members of the board of education, attired in their "meetin' garments, looking dignified and uncomfortable, occupied conspicuous seats on the platform. Prof. Henry B. Sears and his able assistant, Lewella Martin, could not conceal the pride they felt in the brilliant array of talent they had so earnestly learned and were about to turn loose upon the helpless and unsophisticated public.

The president of the board, Jeremiah Martin, announced the program, and on each occasion would burst forth in uncontrollable floods of eloquence as flowery as a woods pasture.

President Martin is the pride of the neighborhood when it comes to public speaking.

The class of '92 consisted of the following members: Minnie Evangeline Mooney Smith, Carl Polyphemus Einstein Flickinger, Blacque Pythagorus B. A'Chump Wilson, Isaac Newton Fitznoodle McGaw, Nellie Sappo Simson Sartoris Moore, Geo. Jerry Simpson Sartoris Stevens, Margaret Ann Maria Whitehead Kitchen, Giles Demosthenes Darwinian Jones Hubbard.

This year the class concluded to take the thing up in proper shape and to get ahead of the Squeedunk university, secured, at a great expense, George Colton's renowned orchestra, and the music was simply poetical, as Prof. Martin said.

As to the efforts made by the graduates to excel our greatest writers and speakers in solving problems of science and history and many other subjects which they knew less about, it is not fair to be too critical. If the public has ever graduated it will know all about it.

It will not be necessary to refer to the days and nights devoted to delving into the musty and moth-eaten ages that are smouldering away like potatoes planted in a wet season, shelved because they lagged behind in the march onward and upward of time in her flight, of the diligent research through encyclopedia and farm journals, seeking that which will enlighten the world and lull the audience to sleep. So with a brief mention of the several floods of rhetoric the feelings of all concerned will be spared.

Evangeline Mooney saluted in English and Polyphemus Einstein in Latin, and both showed how little they knew of frying meat or sawing wood. They both created a laugh, however.

The next was a Philosophical Oration—The critical analysis of a thought wave from its germination to its termination, by Pythagorus B. A'Chump, and he made a hit.

Then came a Metaphysical Oration—The four-fold root of the principle of sufficient reason, by Isaac Newton Fitz Noodle, who made plenty of fun, with his golden locks and wind-pump gesticulations.

Following this came a poem by Sappo Simson Sartoris, who could no doubt measure potatoes more accurately. She made some very clever local hits just the same.

Jerry Simpson Sartoris then orated on The Potato Bug—Some incidents in its career and its effect upon Home Rule in Ireland, and his flights of eloquence were simply astounding, but he had better try a similar trip to the moon. Jerry's make-up was great, and his face made fun all around.

Ann Maria Whitehead prophesied a few and Jones valedicted, after which the class song was sung and the diplomas presented. The entertainment closed with ice cream and cake.

THE Y. P. S. C. E.

Continuation of the Akron Meeting.

Sixteen Hundred Delegates Present as Against Thirteen Hundred Last Year.

Akron, O., June 30.—The interest in the Y. P. S. C. E. convention continued yesterday. The morning session, from 8 to 9 o'clock, was taken up with routine business, such as the reports of committees, etc. At 9 o'clock the vast concourse of young people engaged in a soul-stirring service of song and devotion.

Before the regular program was presented President McCauley called attention to the financial needs of the state organization. Last year $379 was raised and all but $9.94 expended. Rev. J. F. Shepard, of Akron, was appointed to audit the account.

The first topic of the morning was "How to Interest the Uninterested," and was discussed by N. M. Fenuman, of Canton. Dr. Clark was called upon to address the convention before his departure for the east. His words were few but very impressive. As soon as his address was ended the choir struck up "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," and then rising to their feet the convention gave their respected leader the C. E. salute as a farewell greeting.

President McCauley this juncture stated that there were 1,600 delegates in attendance, as against 1,300 at last year's convention at Toledo.

Miss Florence Myers, of New Philadelphia, treated briefly of the topic, "The Overlapping Character of Committee Duties." The subject, "The Country Society," was discussed by Rev. L. A. C. Lohr, of Hillsboro. At the close of Rev. Lohr's address, several members of the convention took up the discussion, giving additional suggestions on this timely topic. J. G. Warren, of Cleveland, discussed briefly the topic "Soul Winning and the Associate Membership." Miss Alice B. Nickles, of Harrison, spoke on the topic, "Junior Work." The address was full of practical suggestions, and created general interest, nearly a score of people taking part in iscussing the subject of which it treated. A. D. Visscher, of Springfield, who had been assigned the subject, "The First State Work," unable to be present, and his interesting paper was read by Miss Ella H. Grisso, of Springfield.

At the conclusion of this part of the program Miss Nettie McClure, of Xenia, one of the vice presidents, made a bright impromptu address. Three delegates who attended the first state convention, Miss Ella H. Grisso, Miss Sue Fay and C. O. Woods, of Springfield, were called to the platform and given the society salute.

The candidates for the next state convention were Springfield, Cincinnati and Youngstown. The report of the committee was in favor of Cincinnati, and was heartily accepted by the delegates.

Rev. W. F. McCauley, of Dayton, was re-elected president and Charles L. France, of Toledo, was again chosen state secretary. The list of 18 vice presidents with but few exceptions were chosen again. Mrs. J. H. Darnell, of Van Wert, was chosen recording secretary.

Resolutions were adopted indorsing Cleveland as the place of holding the international convention in 1894 and favoring the closing of the world's fair on Sundays.

The exercises this evening opend by devotional exercises. Rev. J. A. Roudthaler, of Indianapolis, and Rev. D. B. Hynes, of South Charleston, addressed the meeting.

CABLE WOULD NOT ACCEPT.

ELECTRIC LIGHT STATION

To be One of the Largest of the Kind in the Country.

James C. DeLong Comes Here from the East to Take the Management—No Site Selected Yet.

The directors of the Toledo Electric Light company met yesterday and again to-day relative to the selection of a site. Four pieces of valuable and suitable property was presented, but the final action was postponed for 10 days. One of the four sites will be selected, and either one will make an excellent addition to the city's buildings.

The building will be two stories and of immense proportions. In connection with it large shops will be erected for the repairing of electrical apparatus.

James C. DeLong, one of Thompson-Houston experts, has accepted the management of the institution, and is expected here next week to assume control. Mr. Smith, the present manager, will remain as Mr. DeLong's assistant.

The building and plant entire will cost not less than $100,000.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

OHIO FOR CLEVELAND.

To the Editor: I have not a very extensive acquaintance among the union labor organizations of Toledo, but from what I have heard republican members of those organizations say, I am led to believe that the democrats may claim Ohio for Cleveland. Their ticket is not handicapped by the candidacy of a man who, up to the hour of his nomination was a bitter opponent of the labor unions of the country.

Whitelaw Reid may think he has made himself "solid" with republican workingmen by making peace with the New York printers, but if the cranges throughout the state are in proportion to those in Toledo, he is a dead "rat." Reid has but few friends in the labor unions of Toledo, and he does not deserve to have any.

The Starvation in India

To the Editor: Dr. Frank Van Allen, medical missionary to Madura, South India, gives a fearful picture of the horrors of starvation that are threatening that mighty empire. The last great famine was in 1876, when the government estimated that 5,000,000 persons perished from starvation, with dysentery and famine fever which go with it.

Last year rain partially failed. This year there has been no rain, the crops are scorched with the burning heat; tanks for irrigation are empty and their beds are baking in the blazing tropical sun; all vegetation is withered; the rivers and wells are dried, the price of all grain and food is rapidly rising; and the people flock by hundreds and thousands to the relief camps provided by the British government. Being without fodder, the people tear the thatch from their buildings to save, if possible, the famishing animals, yet thousands upon thousands are dying of starvation.

THE DRESS IS FINISHED, SO AM I."

A gorgeous costume flashed beneath the brilliant lights of a ball-room; "a queen of society is radiant to-night."

The nervous hands of a weak woman have toiled day and night, the weary frame and aching head have known no rest—for "the dress must be finished in time."

To that queen of society and her dressmaker we would say a word. One, through hot-house culture, luxury, and excitement, and the other, through the toil of necessity, may some day find their ailments a common cause. The Vegetable Compound will enable both to meet the demands of society.

HIS FIRST AND LAST CALL.

He sat with her an hour or more;
If she was bored she did not show it;
At last she asked him for the score
And he replied he didn't know it.

And then that maiden cut up rough;
She said to him, with manner cool,
A man who doesn't know enough
To get the score, must be a fool.

He wanted to apologize
To her, but she would hear no more;
With glowing cheeks and flashing eyes,
She showed him out and slammed the door.

Porcupines, which abound in the lumber woods of Northwestern Pennsylvania, are great pests around the camps. They are passionately fond of salt, and should the four sides of the camp shanty be salted from ground to roof these little animals would eat it down over the very heads of the inmates and not leave a splinter of it to mark where it stood.

EATEN ALIVE BY BUZZARDS

About three weeks ago a party of gentlemen from Tennessee went over into Mississippi county, Arkansas, on a hunting expedition. The country around there is the wildest kind, and there were no lodgings to be had, so the party set up camp. They would browse around together and alone at all hours of the day and night. One night the leader of the party, named Watson started out alone with his gun to get a shot at some deer. It was moonlight and terribly warm. Before leaving camp his companions suggested that he had better get back early, as a storm was coming sure, but Watson said he didn't mind and went on. His goal was a little stream about three miles away, where the deer came nightly to drink.

On arriving there he hid himself in a clump of bushes and waited patiently for a shot. But no deer appeared. He waited and waited and finally feel asleep. It must have been something over an hour when he was aroused by a terrific burst of thunder and the glare of zigzag flashes of lightning. But for the electric display the darkness was Egyptian. He could not see his hand before his face. Stunned by the outburst of thunder and blinded by the lightning, he staggered to his feet and groped his way toward what he thought was the direction of the camp. To make matters worse the wind rose and began swaying the trees backward and forward like reeds. Then the rain began to fall in perfect torrents.

Watson stumbled on with his hands before him, hearing the frightened rush occasionally of some brute, scared by the warring of the elements. After some miles of hopeless wandering the lost man saw in the distance the glimmering of a light. He knew it was not the camp, for no light could live there such a night, but he steered towards it. When he came up to it he found a little low log cabin with no windows and a single door, behind it stretched for thirty feet what seemed to be a low brush pile. It was not an inviting place, but Watson feared nothing, and boldly pounded on the door. The rays of the light that gleamed through the chink in the cabin began to move, and a shuffling of feet could be heard. Then the door opened on a crack and the villainous face of an oldish man appeared.

"What do want," he demanded gruffly.

"Can you keep me for the night?" Watson asked. "I've lost my way."

"Well, I want money for it. Have you got it?"

"Yes, sir," said Watson. "Lots of it," and pulling his wallet out he handed the man $5.

As the fellow saw the big roll a dangerous look came into his eyes, but without saying anything he took Watson to his room—a small one leading off from the main room.

There were no windows in it, and no floor, but it was better than being out in the rain, so Watson decided to make the best of it. As he stood gazing thoughtfully at his candle and wringing out his coat, he thought he heard someone fumbling with the door of his room. He called out, but there was no answer. Blowing out his candle he threw himself on the improvised bed and tried to sleep, but he could not. There seemed to be such a disagreeable odor in the room; he tried to think what it was, and finally it came to him. It was buzzards, the dirtiest of all birds.

That's funny, thought Watson. Where can there be buzzards around here? He got off his couch and looked about the room. A faint beam of light was coming from under the center of the back wall of the room. Watson thought a moment and then dropping on his knee peeped under. He could see a large inclosure, thirty feet long and a dozen feet wide, sided up and roofed over only with brush. Forty or fifty buzzards were hopping around and fighting viciously over a few parcels of raw meat which the owner of the house was tossing to them. Watson could see that they were well nigh starved. The old man as he dealt out the bits of meat smiled, showing his yellow teeth and muttered gleefully to himself.

As Watson knelt there on the floor in his room he wandered why any man could have such pets. The spectacle soon began to tire on him and he carefully began noticing the crack through which he was peering.

"My God!" he exclaimed, "it's a panel," and the whole diabolical scheme flashed through his mind. The old man was going to infuriate the birds with a little meat, then let them into his room, and, after they had eaten him, rob him of his money. His blood froze at the horrible idea. His heart almost stopped beating. Tiptoeing to his door he tried it. It was locked. It had been the old man fumbling there. How he cursed himself for leaving his gun in the woods when the storm started. What could he do? As he stood hesitating he saw the stream of light widen. The panel was rising. He could see a string tied to it by which the old man could raise it and keep away from the birds.

Wild with fear the imprisoned man began to scream and curse. "Let me out. Let me out. You can have my money," he cried. "Only don't let me die like this."

The only answer was a chuckle from the old man and the flapping of the buzzard's wings. The panel rose higher and higher, and in a moment one of the birds shot through and with a scream flew at Watson's eyes. He choked it to death, but another followed, and another and another. His face was bleeding, his hands were torn and his clothes were being dragged off him by the starving birds.

There was but one chance left. That was the door. Putting his hands before his eyes and turning his shoulder he ran against it with all his strength, time and again. His tormenter fearing for its strength had braced himself against it on the other side. Watson could hear him chuckling like a fiend. At last, nerving himself for one last effort, the now bleeding weakened man threw all his strength and weight against the door and it gave Another effort and it fell, carrying the old man down with it and pinning him underneath.

With a wild rush Watson dashed out of the house and into the night. He ran and ran until almost exhausted he stumbled onto the came by accident. At daylight he and his friends went back to the scene of the adventure and found only the bloody skeleton of the human fiend and murderer. Caught benath the door and partially stunned, the carrion birds had killed him before he could recover. In the cage of the buzzards a lot of human bones were found, showing that he had succeeded many times in his peculiar murderous methods.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Miss Elizabeth Boyce takes the degree of Bachelor of Arts at Columbia college, New York, this year.

It is now claimed that M. Pasteur is working on a means for the cure of epilepsy, and that he has every hope of success.

A course of dialect readings from her own writings is being given by Mrs. Ruth McEnery Stuart, the author of Southern dialect stories.

John G. Whittier is said to be color-blind, but the same charge was brought against Homer. Mr. Whittier isn't worrying much about it probably.

Rev. Dr. Charles F. Young, formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Saratoga Springs, has accepted a call to a church at St. Augustine, Fla.

Mrs. Viola Fuller, of Mitchell, S. D., has made an opera cloak 57 inches long from parts of the plumage of prairie chickens, only using five or six feathers from each bird.

Colonel F. L. Rives, the chief engineer of the Nicaragua canal and father of Amelia Rivers Chanler, is on a visit to his home in Albemarl county, Virginia. Mrs. Chanler is also there.

A rumor is in circulation that, through the influence of Mrs. Astor, John Jacob Astor and James R. Roosevelt, there is soon to be a reconciliation between Mr. and Mrs. J. Coleman Drayton.

Among the Jews who were driven from Russia in the recent persecutions was Pauline Margolies, a Polish girl of 22, who was graduated from a Moscow college, and has command of the Polish, Russian, English, French and German languages. From Moscow to Warsaw she made the journey in cars so crowded with other refugees that she had to stand, where the temperature was thirty degrees below zero, and no fires were allowed. After great suffering she reached London, where she has a brother, and a few weeks ago she came to this country. She expects to teach school in Milwaukee.

CHILDREN DYING FAST

What is to be Done With the Baby in Summer?

Scrupulous Care Necessary With Its Nourishment.

Lactated Food Recommended by Physicians of all Schools.

The saddest days of all the year for mothers are at hand. Summer's hot weather brings with it a terrible increase in the mortality among infants. Dr. Willard D. Ball, a well known Boston physician, in an interview published in the Globe, said: "My babies have both been brought up on lactated food. I did not give it because they were sick, but to keep them well. I buy a box of lactated food regularly every week. I have found that it does not purge and then bind the infant, as many other foods are known to do. Nothing else is required to be taken as a corrective with this food, as I have found is customary and indispensable with other foods.

"In my own experience I have found that cow's milk must be very thin to be retained by some infants, and that rich milk will not do; but Lactated Food is as nourishing as the latter and much more easily digested than the former.

"My boy, three years old, eats all the Lactated Food he wants, and we give the baby plenty of it."

Lactated Food is a combination of the necessary elements of pure, healthy mother's milk. It is a safe, simple and valuable food for infants, and a nutritious diet for invalids. All who use it, like it, and thrive upon it, and grow healthy and strong.

Every process in the manufacture of Lactated Food is attended with the most scrupulous care. There is no secret about the article, and physicians and mothers and all interested are shown through the factory.

Wheat, barley and oats, together with pure milk sugar and the addition of salts that are found in mother's milk, go to make up Lactated Food. The result is a nutritious product that is prescribed by the best physicians. Many a mother has saved a large doctor's bill by keeping a supply of Lactated Food in the house, and at this time of the year especially, thousands of infants are fed upon nothing else.

ROYALTY AND HOME-MADE GOWNS.

The queen of Portugal makes her own hats and bonnets. The Princess of Wales fits and makes gowns for herself and family. The daughters of royalty are well grounded in the principles of domestic economy, and each one is required to master the technique in some trade. The wife of the green-grocer in America would scorn to wear a home-made gown or a hat not of Parisian origin, and the daughters of washerwomen and cooks and mechanics in this land of democratic simplicity are graduates in the art of being idle gracefully and of being helpless elegantly.

A MODEL CHICAGO LOCATION.

A syndicate of successful and wealthy Chicagoans have just arranged to put Sheldon Heights, a model residence location, on the market. Their reasons for delaying giving investors a chance to share in the enormous profits (which will result from the settling up and occupation of Sheldon Heights) is that their improvements have just been completed. It has taken a year's time and a large amount of money to macadamize all the streets; lay stone sidewalks around every block; put pure water in every street; plant trees and in fact make the model residence location of Chicago. This is what has been accomplished with Sheldon Heights. Lots are now being sold upon prices and terms that make Sheldon Heights property the best possible purchase in Chicago real estate. Send for the fuller description of the story in a booklet called "The Way to Win" to Jas. E. & Robt. L. McElroy, Chamber of Commerce, Chicago.

FIRST-CLASS EXCURSION

From Toledo to New York and Return.

For all regular trains on the 5th, 6th and 7th of July, agents of the Pennsylvania company will sell at a rate considerably less than the regular fare one way, first-class excursion tickets from Toledo to New York and return, over the Pennsylvania Short Lines, good returning for 40 days, or until August 15. Geo. A. Stockton, at Pennsylvania Passenger Station, will tell you all about it. Please address him.

THEY ALL THOUGHT.

All the boarders were sitting out on the porch last evening fanning themselves and formulating plans of campaign against the mosquitoes.

"I am just dying of thirst," exclaimed little Miss Calgraph, with a significant glance at Mr. Silkenlace, who is generally believed to be sweet on her.

"So am I, and not a chip of ice in the house," groaned Miss Cashe, turning her pleading eyes to Mr. Bukieper.

Neither of the gentlemen volunteered anything further than that this was "really quite too awful" and it began to look as if someone would have to force the issue when Jack Ticker cordially invited the ladies over to the drug store.

"What! Not on the Sabbath I hope!" exclaimed Miss Arithmetique, frigidly.

And when Silkenlace and Bukieper echoed the pious look and exclaimed: "That's what I—I thought."

Miss Arithmetique didn't understand that they were her friends for life.

VERMILION IRON RANGE.

It Will Break the Record in the Matter of Output.

Duluth, Minn., June 30.—The Vermilion Iron Range north of this city will break its record this year by over 300,000 tons of iron if the present rate of shipment is maintained. For a week the Duluth & Iron Range road has been handling from twenty to twenty-five train loads daily, each load consisting of about 500 tons of ore. It is expected that this rate will be continued all the season of navigation, or at least until November. The Chandler mine, which last year shipped 300,000 tons, will this year send forward 600,000, while the Minnesota Iron company will increase its business about a hundred thousand tons. At the Chandler a steam shovel is used to load the cars from the stockpile.

The new Biwabic mine is being stripped for shipping and it is expected that a millions tons a year will be mined. Steam shovels will be used on the ore body, which is like gravel, and cars run down into the mine will be loaded directly by the shovel. This will be the cheapest mining of any iron property in the world.

FACTS FROM FINDLAY.

The Toledo Bridge Company Awarded a Contract.

Gas Trustees Resign—Notes of General Interest from the Brilliant City.

Findlay, June 30.—(Special)—E. V. Wyssbrood and E. C. Taylor, two republican members of the city natural gas board, have resigned on account of things not working their way.

The new city improvement board elected to handle the $100,000 bonds to encourage manufacturing, will organize Friday night. They have propositions from a dozen different concerns.

The Toledo Bridge company was awarded the contract for the new iron bridge across the Blanchard river, west of the city, consideration nearly $5,000. A dozen firms were represented.

The Findlay, Ft. Wayne & Western road has commenced condemnation suit against the L. E. & W. for a new crossing at West Park.

Mr. George Ring, of Cincinnati, was married ast night to Miss Sarah Morganroth.

Wm. E. Moore was sent to jail under $200 bond yesterday on the charge of offering for sale and exhibiting obscene and lascivious photographs.

Findlay's 14 large glass houses of various kinds close down this week for their annual summer vacation.

ST. LOUIS IS AWAKE.

She Will Be Known as a Suburb to Chicago.

St. Louis, Mo., June 30.—A report was recently issued by the Autumnal Festivities association of this city announcing the receipt to date of upwards of $600,000 toward the million dollars which the city is raising for festivity purposes during the period of the world's fair. This is stated to be the largest subscription of purely local character on record. A large portion of the money will be spent on street illuminations, which will include a number of electrical panoramas describing the discovery of America and the voyage of Columbus.

It is hoped that the Air Line Electric road between Chicago and St. Louis will be completed in time to enable visitors to the world's fair to go to St. Louis and see the illuminations there, with the journey occupying but about three hours.

FREMONT NOTES.

A Pioneer Killed by the Cars—Destructive Blaze.

Fremont, O., June 30.—(Special)—An old pioneer, E. J. Leppelman, aged about 80, was instantly killed this morning by eastbound L. S. & M. S. train No. 24, due here at 7:30. Deafness was presumably the cause.

Shackelhoff & Fabing's ice house, containing 22,000 tons of ice, burned last night. Most of the ice can be used. No insurance.

Fremont will have a big celebration the first week of August. The people have made arrangements to secure the Sixteenth regiment, O. N. G., for that week.

NOTHING BETTER FOR CHILDREN

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, allays all pain; cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

FOURTH AT WHITEHOUSE.

Whitehouse, O., June 30.—(Special.)—Besides reading the declaration of independence and speeches here the Fourth of July celebration will be conspicuous in attractive entertainments, among which are horse racing, sack races, foot races, fat men's race, shooting match, climbing soaped pole, catching greased pig, and wheel-barrow races.

Representative O. P. Heller will make a speech. Parade at 1 p. m., dancing to commence at 2 p. m.

Everybody is making ready for celebration fun.

IOWA REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Des Moines, Ia., June 30.—At the republican state convention W. M. McFarland was re-nominated for secretary of state by acclamation. C. G. McCarthy, of Stery, for auditor. For treasurer of state, B. H. Bessand, of Marshal county, was nominated by acclamation, and Attorney General Stone was re-nominated with similar unanimity. For railroad commissioner, George W. Perkins, of Tremont, was nominated.

HER INFLUENCE.

"I envy young Greathed this weather."

"Why?"

"Why? In the hottest days he looks as cool as if it was midwinter. Every time I meet him he has an atmosphere of coolness about him that is positively refreshing. He looks as if he had just come out of an ice house."

"That is easily explained. He is courting a Boston girl."—New York Press.

The eminent statesman and savant Ahmed Vefik Pasha wrote, among other works, a Turkish dictionary. The Sultan has presented 480 copies of this to schools at Constantinople.

The World's Fair Commission is Bankrupt.

Secretary of the Treasury Foster Notified of the Financial Condition.

Chicago, June 30.—Bankruptcy has at last reached the World's Columbian commission. Every cent of the appropriation has been exhausted and Secretary Dickinson has not enough money left to buy a postage stamp, unless he draws on his own resources.

Director General Davis has not drawn his salary for several months and Colonel Dickinson has gone without pay for the same period in order that the clerks in his office could draw their salaries.

But few members of the National board who attended the April session have received the money they advanced for railroad fare and hotel expenses.

Last night the last postage stamp in Secretary Dickinson's office was put on a letter to Secretary Foster informing him of the condition of the national commission's finances.

A SURPRISED MONKEY.

He is Given a Gentle Snake-Up With Electricity

The Maple street cars are compelled to wait ten minutes on each trip at the water shops end of the line, and often the time drags very heavily for the motorman and conductor and the few passengers who happen to get there early. But it was not so on a trip a day or two ago. When the electric car stopped, an Italian armed with a barrel organ especially designed for playing "Maggie Murphy's Home," "McGinty" and other operatic arias, its interlocking and interchangeable addition being capable of grinding out two yards and two inches of "Ta-ra-ra-boom-de-ra" in two flats and two sharps, opened a fusilade of very bad music, while his right bower, a south American monkey proceeded to climb all over President Olmstead's rolling stock in his search for pennies or other valuable consideration.

Of the former he collected four, and after making a very pretty bow he put the pennies in his mouth and jumped on to the iron guard gate. He was there only an instant, but long enough for someone to connect a live wire with the iron gate and send a thousand electric shocks aminute into the thoroughly mystified and screeching monkey. With the first shock his monkeyship let go of the gate with paws, but hung on with his tail, until finally he could clear himself. He dropped his pennies and apparently took to swearing in his own tongue, while his master unable to pull him loose, went through the war dance of the Mafia in a very elegant manner. The electric current was finally broken, and the reunited master and monk quickly made their disappearance.—Springfield Union.

A BIT OF GOLD.

The "Unconsidered Trifle" Was Worth About $120,000.

Frontier highwaymen would have had a hard time wrestling with a bit of gold which arrived here by the Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express a few days ago. It came from the celebrated Harqua Hala mine, and was consigned to J. Hubbard and J. B. Bowers, the owners of the property, for coining at the United States mint.

When the employes of the mint took a look at it they were astonished. The reason was that it was the biggest lump of gold they had had the unhappiness to come in contact with, seeing that it was in one respect like many others, being not their own.

It was of a somewhat conical shape and seemed to have been emptied out of a gigantic slag pot. did not belie its looks, for that was the way it had been shaped. It was the product of 45 days' run at the Harqua Hala, and the tremendous bulk weighed 357 1-8 pounds avoirdupois, and was stated to be of the value of $120,000.

The thoughtful representatives of the owners of the big nugget telegraphed from point to point as they progressed with it from the mine, 60 miles southwest of Phoenix, and announced when it should arrive at the next station. This was in order to forestall any ambitious men with guns, for though aspiring highwaymen were thus kept exactly posted as to when the gold might be expected, it also posted the people in each town.

The nugget was too big for any party of bandits to carry off intact and secrete, and had they stopped the caravan on the way to the railroad they would have only had time to chisel off $1,000 or so till the pack of bloodhounds which the prison officials at Phoenix have would have been on their trail. Nobody molested it, therefore, and it reached here safely. The ponderous yellow cone has attracted much attention.—San Francisco Examiner.

LONG LIFE

Is possible only when the blood is pure and vigorous. To expel Scrofula and other poisons from the circulation, the superior medicine is AYER'S Sarsaparilla. It imparts permanent strength and efficiency to every organ of the body. Restoration to perfect health and strength

Results from Using

AYER'S Sarsaparilla. Mary Schubert, Kansas City, Ks., writes:

"I am convinced that after having been sick a whole year from liver complaint, Ayer's Sarsaparilla saved my life. The best physicians being unable to help me, and having tried three other proprietary medicines without benefit, I at last took Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The result was a complete cure. Since then I have recommended this medicine to others, and always with success"

CHANGE of LIFE

whether in early girlhood or later on in adult years of the gentler sex is considered a dangerous and momentous period. Passed safely it means everything which is bright and beautiful, otherwise it may mean perpetual ailing, intense suffering, perhaps Death; now and then an Insane Asylum. It was after many years successful experience as a practising physician and constant study of the subject that I put up in popular form to be sold through the druggists, my remedy known as

and Cleansing Wash for the cure of all Female Complaints, no mattter from what cause. Without charge I answer all letters from those who wish advice on this most important subject; and furthermore I send two bottles free of Dr. Marchisi's Uterine Catholicon in this way any lady may assure herself of its great curative qualities before going to the expense of buying from the drug store.

CHANGE of LIFE

Change of Life.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 10, 1876.

Dr. J. B. Marchisi: Dear Sir—Those ladies undergoing the "Change of Life" cannot give too much praise to your Catholicon, as it is just the medicine that those ladies should take. No doubt but what thousands of ladies have been relieved and cured besides myself. Several have come under my observation. Yours Truly,

MRS SARAH MILSTED.

Brings Her Safely Through Change of Life.

SCRANTON, PA., Feb. 2, 1891.

Dr. Marchisi: Dear Sir—Ten years ago I saw your advertisement in one of our papers, and learned that I could be cured, so I procured one bottle of your Catholicon. In one week I was so much improved that I continued taking it, and it brought me safely through the "change of life" without an ache or pain of any kind. I have been buying and recommending it for the past ten years. Yours, etc.,

DO YOU WANT GOLD?

Cripple Creek is not a health resort. It is a wealth resort. Quite a difference! Location, near Pike's Peak, in Colorado. Gold—bright, yellow gold, is found as grass roots and in the rock formation.

Reliable experts claim this is to-day the richest camp in Colorado. Assays average $100 per ton, and have run as high as $5,000. One hundred people a day are now rushing to Fremont, chief town of the district.

The chance of a life-time is worth looking after!

You can get there quickly and comfortably by taking Santa Fe Route. Only line with no change of cars from Chicago. Kansas City and other principal cities to Florissant, nearest railroad station, with daily stages to Fremont.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of the stockholders of the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway Company will be held at the office of the company in Toledo, Lucas county, Ohio, on the 7th day of July, 1892, at 3 o'clock p. m., for the following purposes:

FIRST—To consider and determine the question of increasing the capital stock of said company to the sum of $14,500,000, by issuing additional common stock to the amount of $4,000,000, for the purpose of increasing its machinery, rolling stock, depots and other fixtures, and for completing its line of road, liquidating and paying off its unfunded and floating debt, and for any and all of said purposes, and for any of the purposes authorized by law.

SECOND—After considering said increase of capital stock, to consider the question of issuing bonds of said company, to the aggregate amount of eight million dollars, bearing interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, and securing the same by mortgage on the property of said company or otherwise, in such form as the stockholders may direct or approve, for any of the following purposes: Laying additional track, increasing the machinery and rolling stock, building depots and shops, making improvements, paying its unfunded debts and redeeming its bonds, and for any of the purposes authorized by law.

THIRD—For the transaction of all other business which may be brought before said meeting.

By order of the Board of Directors.

...OKING AT THE CROPS

...ather Still a Great Factor in the Market.

...erybody is Discussing the Rain.

...attens from all the Trading ...ints on This and the Other Side of the Ocean.

...receipts of wheat to-day at Minne... and Duluth were 328,730, and at ...ther western points 257 588 bu, ag...ting 586,318 bu. In 1891 same ..., same Thursday, the receipts were ...42 bu.

...e export clearances yesterday at four ...tic ports were: Wheat 287,877 bu ...flour to an aggregate of 420,000 bu. ...ports of corn 132,699 bu and of oats ...87 bu. English markets open firm ... wheat and lower for corn.

...The marvelous and unexpected may al...ys be expected in the wheat market. ...Missouri, where the crop has been re...rted weak, spotted and inferior, come ...ports this morning from Chicago of ...lds of 25 to 30 bu. We fancy we can ...e it all. Some early and exceptionally ...od crops have been heard from. We do ...t believe in any such general yield in ...souri or elsewhere.

...s an offset to the above the accounts ... decreased production in Indiana are ...gmented. We hope America will pro...uce a good crop of wheat, but the ele...nts have been against it since it went ...to the ground last fall.

...And now comes Kansas.

...One of our Chicago correspondents re...ils the statement that Kansas will pro...uce 85,000,000 bushels of wheat. We ...ons der such an estimate unreasonable, ...misleading and baseless. It is well to re...member that statements of agricultural ...oduction by Kansas City authorities ...erally contain the element of real ...te booming and general speculation ... are unreliable. We no not believe ...ansas will exceed the crop of 1891, ...hich the government estimated at 54,...6,000 bushels.

...The weather and the news to-day has ...duced a bearish impression, and the ...kets for wheat and corn, east and ...t, have been easier and close lower.

...New York July wheat closes 5-8c ... July corn 1c lower.

...Chicago July wheat closed 1 1-8c, ... corn 1c and July oats 1-4c, all lower.

...In Toledo.—There has been some im...rovement in business over the past few ...ays, but that does not make it easy to ...ake interesting comments on the market. ...rices have been weaker. Our receipts ...e over 50,000 bushels and it seems to ...ge right along. However, closing ...prices do not show as much of a break ...as at Chicago. June and cash close with ...sellers at a loss of 1-4c, July 3-4c, August ...5-8c, and September 3-4c. On the call ...June wheat sold at 86 3-8c, July 83 1-4c ...to 83 1-8c. Blighted Wheat.

Columbus, O., June 30.—Secretary Bonham, of the state board of agriculture, has received reports that the growing wheat has been damaged in some sections of Ohio. Specimen heads of wheat have been sent to him, but the exact cause has not yet been determined. The heads are large and apparently well filled, but upon examination they are found to contain very few grains. These are very close to the lower part of the head, while the top, covering more than half the formation, has nothing but the husk.

He attribute the cause to the extreme heat and others to the nefarious work of the green louse. In a letter to Mr. Bonham, Mr. R. L. Holman, a prominent farmer of Clark county, says he has 30 acres of as fine looking wheat as one could wish to see. tI promised a heavy yield until the extreme heat last week and the appearance of the louse, and he now thinks it will scarcely pay to cut the wheat. He attributes the damage to the insect, but Secretary Bonham inclines to the opinion that the heads were blighted by the extreme heat of the past week.

Crop Bulletin.

Washington, June 30.—Following is the weather crop bulletin issued by the weather bureau:

The weather during the past week has been cooler than usual from the central Mississippi valley eastward to the Atlantic coast, including the states of the Ohio valley and from southern New England southward over the Carolinas, the greatest of temperature being over Virginia, where it amounted to six degrees per day. It was also wetter than usual over the southern Rocky mountain regions and on the North Pacific coast. About the normal temperature prevailed along the gulf coast, attended by excessive cloudiness and daily showers in the gulf states. This cool weather was attended in the states of the upper Mississippi valley by much cloudiness and heavy rains and especially in northern Illinois and the eastern portions of Iowa and Minnesota and in southern Wisconsin, resulting in less favorable conditions for growing crops than were of the preceding week. The spring region was also less favored, owing to relatively cool weather, the daily temperature in that section ranging from 3 degrees below the normal. It was slightly cooler than usual on the California coast. The season continues late throughout all great districts. Deficiency in the season temperature is growing less than in the regions south of the gulf states. There is, however, a large area in the northwest where average daily temperature since the first of March has been 3 degrees below normal.

Illinois—Heavy rains injurious to crops in southern half of state, much below in northern half. Haying and wheat harvest progressing in southern, and will begin a few days in central portion; conditions favorable except in northern portion.

Indiana—Conditions favorable; wheat and oats harvested and corn cultivated in southern and central, but nothing done in northern portions.

Ohio—Rapid growth and improvement in corn, oats and potatoes; wheat harvest well along in southern portion; elsewhere nearly ready for harvest; some damage in localities from smut, rust and wreckage; buckwheat seeding progressing; tobacco promising condition; rains retarded haying clover and wheat.

Michigan—Crops looking well, with exception of some fields of oats and corn; clover rotting; corn cultivating hindered by wet weather.

Markets.

St. Louis, June 30.—Cotton—The market is quiet. Middling at 7 1-4c. Receipts none, shipments 800 bales, sales, 100 bales, stock 67,000 bales.

Memphis, June 30.—Cotton—The market is easy. Middling selling at 7 3-16c. Receipts 49 bales, shipments 439 bales, stock 21,643 bales, sales 125 bales.

Turpentine.

Wilmington, June 30.—Steady at 26 1-2c.
Charleston, June 30.—Steady at 27c.
Savannah, June 30.—Firm at 27 1-4c.

Manchester.

Manchester, June 30.—The Guardian, in its commercial article, says: Merchants are not disposed to make important transactions. Indian orders are withheld, apparently under the influence of the falling process of cotton. The demand for China and other markets is unusually dull. Ordinary and medium shirtings are becoming unsalable at reasonable terms. There is a fairly steady inquiry for dhoolies at somewhat lower prices than when cotton was lowest. The yarn market is especially unsatisfactory to spinners despite the pressure to sell. Buyers are scarce, except for small quantities to meet their immediate requirements.

Wool.

London, June 30.—At the wool sales today 14,952 bales of a good quality were offered. There was a good attendance and the competition of home and German buyers was keen, especially for good greasy. Following are the sales to-day in detail and the prices obtained: New South Wales, sales 2,400 bales—scoured at 8 1-2d @1s 4 1-2d, do locks and pieces at 8d@1s, greasy at 5 1-2@11d, do locks and pieces at 3 3-4@9 1-2d. Farmers' Review.

Chicago, June 30.—This week's Farmers' Review will have the following crop summary:

Springwheat—In Illinois all of the spring wheat is in fair to good condition, mostly good. The same is true of Michigan, Kansas, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas. In Nebraska only 9 per cent. of the correspondents report good, one-half of the remainder reporting fair and the rest poor.

Oats—In Illinois oats are reported in fair to good condition. Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky only 2 to 16 per cent. of the correspondents report the condition as poor, while in Missouri the stand is good, but not so favorable as the states mentioned. The outlook in Kansas is slightly below that of Missouri, and Nebraska falls below Kansas, while in Iowa a little less than one-third report the crop in good condition, the rest reporting fair with one exception. In Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas the crop is in fine shape as a general thing.

In Illinois winter wheat is generally in fine shape. Two-thirds of the counties report the crop an average or above, all the others reporting fair. The same is true of Indiana and Ohio with the exception of about 12 per cent. in the two states that report poor. Only one in ten of the correspondents in Michigan report poor, the others fair to good. In Kentucky the crop is especially fine, while in Mississippi only 15 per cent. report the outlook as bad. In Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa the crop is reported at from good to above average. In Wisconsin 40 per cent. report the crop an average or above, the same number report fair and the remainder poor.

Fruit—The prospects of fruit in Illinois are very poor. The same condition prevails in Indiana and Ohio. In Michigan one-third report the fruit crop as an average or above; an equal number report it form 5 to 25 per cent. below an average and the others report poor. In Kentucky one-fifth of the correspondents report the condition as good, 35 per cent. report fair, the others poor. In Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska the prospects are very poor. In Iowa the condition of fruit shows great variation, the outlook in 38 of the counties being good, and in a like number being very poor; in others fair. In Wisconsin and the Dakotas the outlook is good generally, while in Minnesota it is in fair to good condition in three-fourths of the counties.

ROW AND RIOT.

Crisis Reached in the Street Railroad Controversy.

The Opposing Sides Come Together

On Ottawa Street This Afternoon—Messrs. Lang and Robison Determined—Arrests Being Made as Fast as the Police Can Make Them.

The merry war is on and the two street railway companies are doing battle to the death. Both sides mean fight to the last trench.

The details of the controversy have been printed in the Bee each day as it developed. The Consolidated, as the public is generally aware, is tearing up the tracks in Summit street. The Robisons wanted to help, by putting a gang of men to work at Monroe street, and push the construction to their connection near the Oliver house. Of course the Consolidated objected and the Robisons applied for an injunction to restrain the Consolidated from interfering with them in pushing the work. As was stated in the Bee yesterday, Judge Harmon refused to grant the order for the reason that no evidence thus far had been introduced to show that the Consolidated was not pushing the work as expeditiously as possible. The hearing was continued until this morning when, after listening to extensive argument on both sides, the court refused to make an order either way in the case.

The Robisons then notified the management of the Consolidated that they would put a gang of men to work at 10 o'clock to-day at Monroe street, and that the tracks would be torn up and rebuilt.

Forthwith the Consolidated filed a petition in common pleas court praying for an injunction restraining the Robisons from tearing up or in any manner disturbing the tracks in the streets.

No further action was taken in court relative to the injunction suit, and it seems that they resolved to fight it out.

Between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock, workingmen with their dinner pails and tools might have been seen making their way up Summit street, and gathering at the Perry street bridge in pairs and squads until at least 150 men had congregated.

Promptly at 1 o'clock the foreman of the Robison gang gave the order and a dozen men, armed with steel rods, began tearing up the pavement between the tracks. Immediately thereafter, the space between the rails was crowded by Consolidated men, who had been ordered up from the work on Summit street. There was a good opening for a free-for-all fight at this point, but fortunately a squad of police arrived, and both sides withdrew and the leaders went into consultation.

Manager Lang, speaking with a Bee, said: "These men have no more right to come here and tear up our tracks than they have to go out to my house and break up my furniture. We will protect our rights and property in court or elsewhere, and if they resort to violence, will meet them on that issue."

Mr. Robison expressed himself as fully determined to tear up the tracks and insisted he was only endeavoring to maintain his rights.

The men lined up on either side of the track, and the police took a position between the two factions. The Robisons order their men to proceed with the work and the consolidated issues orders to keep the other men off, so it is a case of fight or lose a job.

Mr. Robison at 1:45 appeared with a permit signed by Mayor Emmick and Engineer Miller, empowering the company, so far as their authority extended, to proceed with the reconstruction. The permit was presented to Officer Dan Sullivan, who submitted it to Chief Raitz for further orders.

Chief Raitz concluded to permit the Robisons to go ahead with the work, and Officer Sullivan was so instructed. He returned and the Robisons' men went to work once more. They were immediately opposed by the Consolidated men and a horse car was run on the track when the men were at work, whereupon the police at once proceeded to make arrests and kept on at this business at a lively rate.

When the crowd was getting tired of waiting Jim Robison drove into the crowd. He spoke in a low tone with Sergeant Sullivan for a moment or two.

Turning to the crowd, he sang out:

"Fred, get your men to work."

Immediately there was a rush, and in a moment the ring of crowbars and axes could be heard above the shouts of the crowd.

The excitement was intense and the crowds, which kept getting larger and larger, seemed to sympathize with the under dog in the fight.

A riot seemed imminent when a Consolidated car was lifted bodily from the rails and thrown across the track. The police, which up to this time had simply aimed to protect the Robison workers, now proceeded to make general arrests.

"I have a general warrant for every one who interfered, and Mr. Lang comes next," exclaimed Lawyer Brumback as a colored policeman walked off with Lang's foreman to the police station.

A second later another Consolidated car came along and stopped where the Robison men were at work. Sergeant Robinson ordered him, to drive on, but he absolutely refused to budge. Three sturdy policemen jumped on the car and endeavored to catch the reins and drive the horses, but the driver resisted and was hauled from the car under arrest.

During this incident the crowd surged around the contestants shouting and cheering.

David Robison and A. E. Lang met and they glared at each other.

"Did you, sir, order that car to stop here?" Mr. Robison shouted.

"I did, and it is going to remain there," shouted back Mr. Lang.

"Well, then you'll go to jail with the rest," responded Mr. Robison fiercely, and rushed off to have a confab with Sergeant Sullivan.

In the meantime the work of tearing up the rails proceeded and the work was quick and thorough. Jim and Will Robison were as busy as bees, rushing here and there, giving orders as they ran.

A second gang of Consolidated employes appeared on the scene and were about to start tearing up the track when the police interfered. "You arrest any one that attempts to touch this track except our men," David Robison said to Sergeant Robison, and the sergeant immediately proceeded to carry out the chief's orders. No arrests, however, were necessary, as the Consolidated rested wearily on their arms pending further orders.

The crowd continued to surge about the workers and Mr. Robison gave orders for the street to be cleared, and this the police proceeded to do as best they could. But as well try to keep flies from a barrel of molasses as to keep that crowd from the street.

Immediately after the arrests the Robison men went to work with a vim, and there was no interference by the Consolidated forces.

Mr. David Robison mounted the end of a truck and hollowed out to the men, saying:

"Boys! Any man who wants to go to work can do so at $1.50 a day and can begin right now."

A voice—"Who says tha?"

"I do, Mr. Robison."

Before the announcement both sides were paying $1.25 a day.

Following Mr. Robison's declaration the Consolidated officials gathered their men together and offered them $150 also.

Mayor Emmick arrived on the scene and asked what the matter was. He endeavored to bring order out of chaos, but did not achieve much success.

At 3 o'clock A. E. Lang swore out a warrant for Mr. David Robison and he was placed upder arrest.

Shortly after 3 o'clock 100 Robison men were arrested and taken to the police station.

The Robisons are going to swear out a warrant to arrest all the Consolidated men.

The Arrested Parties.

F. H. Licoln, the electrician of the Consolidated company, was arrested by the colored officer, King, and hustled over to the police station in a buggy. The foreman, Richard Elton, was arrested at thesame time. The charge of disturbance was placed against them. Both furnished bail in the sum of $10. The other men arrested were D. C. Snyder, E. H. Dawson, Michael Higgins, John Higgins, Robert Conbov, and E. J. Battles, all charged with obstructing street. They were released on bail bond.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

Toledo Republican club meets this evening to talk over Saturday night's ratification meeting.

There are no new developments in the free employment bureau superintendency. Charley Murphy still holds the fort.

A collection is being taken up to-day to procure funds with which to defray expenses of burying Albert White, who died last night on account of being hit in the head.

The Free Kindergarten gets a benefit only on those tickets sold by its lady managers for their excursion to Put-in Bay to-morrow. Hence, to aid them friends must buy from the ladies.

The Bee Hive.

The BEE will give the people all of the news and advertise their wants. Having a circulation much greater than any other Toledo daily paper it is much the best advertising medium. It secures quicker and better returns. Consult your interests by advertising in the BEE when you want anything or have anything to sell.
